Distributional Effects of Environmental and Energy Policy Don

Fullerton, 2017-05-15 Many effects of environmental and energy policy are likely to disproportionately burden those with low income First it raises the price of fossil fuel intensive products that constitute a high fraction of low income budgets like gasoline heating fuel and electricity Second the handout of pollution permits to firms provides value to those who own them Third low income individuals may place more value on food and shelter than on improvements in environmental quality so high income individuals may get the most benefit of pollution abatement Fourth air quality improvements may raise the value of houses owned by landlords rather than helping renters These effects might all hurt the poor more than the rich This book brings together the seminal economics literature that studies whether these fears are valid and whether anything can be done about them

Model Driven Engineering Languages and Systems Andy Schürr, Bran V. Selic, 2009-09-30

The pioneering organizers of the first UML workshop in Mulhouse France in the summer of 1998 could hardly have anticipated that in little over a decade their initiative would blossom into today's highly successful MODELS conference series the premier annual gathering of researchers and practitioners focusing on a very important new technical discipline model based software and system engineering This expansion is of course a direct consequence of the growing significance and success of model based methods in practice The conferences have contributed greatly to the heightened interest in the field attracting much young talent and leading to the gradual emergence of its corresponding scientific and engineering foundations The proceedings from the MODELS conferences are one of the primary references for anyone interested in a more substantive study of the domain The 12th conference took place in Denver in the USA October 4-9 2009 along with numerous satellite workshops and tutorials as well as several other related scientific gatherings The conference was exceptionally fortunate to have three eminent invited keynote speakers from industry Stephen Mellor Larry Constantine and Grady Booch
