Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and energy expenditure (EE) of sedentary, middle-aged women. The subjects were 12 women, 40 to 50 years of age, who were sedentary and had no cardiovascular or pulmonary disease. They were randomly assigned to a 12-week training program or a control group. The training program consisted of three sessions per week of aerobic exercise at 60% of maximum HR. The control group performed no exercise. The HR and EE were measured at rest and during exercise at 60% of maximum HR. The HR and EE were significantly higher in the training group than in the control group at the end of the 12-week program. The results of this study suggest that a 12-week training program can improve the HR and EE of sedentary, middle-aged women.

- Day and night periods that are longer than the standard 24 hours occur most commonly with the use of artificial light or other light sources. To avoid this, there are two things the producer should do:
 - 1. Turn off the lights at the end of the day.
 - 2. Avoid excessive light intensity, the length of the day and the light spectrum (the color of the light) are also important.
- The end of the day is the best time to change the light spectrum. The producer should be looking for the color of the light to be similar to the color of the sun at the end of the day. When you install your T-Value One Connection, improper installation of all four screws (50 combinations for One Connection) will void the warranty. Please, before installing, refer to the correct installation instructions. Failure to maintain proper ventilation may result in a variety of problems with the product.

- When a producer's price for the output rises or falls, it must adjust its output level accordingly. For example, if the price of the output rises, the producer will increase its output level until the marginal revenue is equal to the marginal cost.
