As you review these sources, you will gather information and answer questions about how the sources present information so you can write an analytical essay.

Read the article "Elephants Can Lend a Helping Trunk." Then answer the questions.

Elephants Can Lend a Helping Trunk

by Virginia Morell

1 Elephants know when they need a helping trunk—or rather trunk. That's the conclusion of a new study that tested the cooperative skills of Asian elephants (Elephas maximus) in Thailand and showed that the pachyderms understood that they will fail at a task without a partner's assistance. The ability to recognize that you sometimes need a little help from your friends is a sign of higher social cognition, psychologists say, and is rarely found in other species. Elephants now join an elite club of social cooperative chimpanzees, hyenas, meerkats, and humans.

2 To test the elephants' cooperative skills, a team of scientists modified a classic experiment first administered to chimpanzees in the 1930s, which requires two animals work together to earn a treat if they don't cooperate, neither gets the reward. For the elephants, the researchers used a sliding table with a single treat threaded
