Indigenous Technology Knowledge Systems Mishack T. Gumbo,P. John Williams,2023-07-21 There has been a growing interest in indigenous knowledge systems and research This interest has been mainly triggered by the need to decolonize education as a response to the colonial onslaught on indigenous knowledge and people Research has however concentrated on the generality of the indigenous knowledge system rather than on its related dimensions One area that has suffered a lack of attention is indigenous conceptions of science technology engineering and mathematics STEM despite the unquestionable evidence of STEM in indigenous contexts Most STEM is presented by colonial establishments and representations especially in developed modern urban contexts which portray STEM as a colonial construct This book focuses on indigenous technological knowledge systems education ITKSE Indigenous people have been at the front of technological developments from pre colonial times The list of precolonial industries science and technology is extensive including blacksmithing wood carving textile weaving and dyeing leather works beadworks pottery making architecture agricultural breeding metal working salt production gold smithing copper smithing leather crafting soap making bronze casting canoe building brewing glass making and agriculture for example In some parts of the world such as Africa and Australia these technologies still exist ITKSE should not be left to exist outside of the technology education curriculum and classroom as it can benefit both indigenous students who have been denied learning about what is relevant to them and non indigenous students These cultural groups can expand their knowledge of technology by learning both ITKSE and Western technological knowledge systems education WTKSE ITKSE also presents opportunities for technology teachers to reflect on and revisit their depth of technological knowledge pedagogies and assessment The intent of this book is transformational in the sense that it brings decolonial and indigenous perspectives into the technology education context It extends technology education in the sense that it will not only influence Western minded architects artisans designers etc but encourage indigenous mindedness as well Working with indigenous knowledge Fhumulani M. Mulaudzi,Rachel T. Lebese,2022 The aim of the book is to assist both local and international scholars in articulating the scholarly discourse on indigenous health attitudes practices and experiences The indigenous lens that was used to generate and disseminate indigenous knowledge in this book will strengthen indigenous scholarship thus making it accessible to a wider audience In addition the information shared in this book will add value for scholars and assist them with the indigenous knowledge needed to address sustainable development goals This book is timeous and topical as the discourse on the decolonisation of the curriculum is widely debated in the higher education space The discourse on the scholarship of indigenous knowledge as the tacit local knowledge that stems from cultural practices within communities has not been well articulated in the current health science education milieu Indigenous knowledge has remained overlooked and undermined for a very long time and the information remains untapped in local communities The scholars who conducted the research on which this book is based unearthed a wealth of knowledge which was tacit in nature and translated it into implicit knowledge that can be documented and shared with other scholars globally This knowledge will assist health care scholars in benefiting from knowledge practices and cultural beliefs that will assist them in health care planning teaching evidence based practice and further research Medical Geology of Africa Theophilus Clavell Davies,2024-06-14 Medical Geology of Africa explores the connection between geological materials processes and the health of humans and animals The book fosters an improved understanding of the ways in which the geological environment impacts the geographical distribution of health problems and how they contribute to better diagnoses and therapy Africa s unique geoenvironmental condition gives added relevance to such studies underlining the need for geoscience and public health students and practitioners to understand new principles and applications Chapters in the book provide extended enquiry based investigations and examples that employ real geochemical datasets epidemiological records public health statistics and visualizations Provides a summary of current research on Medical Geology of Africa Identifies gaps in knowledge of the role of the geo environment in deciphering unknown aetiologies Assembles the most recent literature on current thematic issues and prescribes directions of future research Space and Geospatial Technologies for the Africa We Want Jossam Potel,Kamal Labbassi,Solomon Tesfamichael,Harold Annegarn,Jide Kufoniyi,Souleye Wade,2024-10-25 This book comprises the contributions of the African Association of Remote Sensing of the Environment AARSE international conference which is conducted biennially across Africa alternately with the AfricaGIS conference It is the premier forum in Africa for research on remote sensing technologies and geospatial information science gathering

The Guide to COIL Virtual Exchange Jon Rubin, Sarah Guth, 2023-07-03

This is the authoritative guide to implementing COIL Virtual Exchange, conceived and co-edited by one of the originators of this innovative approach to internationalization. Jon Rubin, COIL, the acronym for Collaborative Online International Learning, is a central modality of what has come to be known as virtual exchange. Since its first iteration in 2002, it has gradually established itself as a mature pedagogy that is being increasingly implemented across the world and is validated by a growing body of research. COIL Virtual Exchange, at its most essential, is a bi-lateral online exchange involving the integration of existing courses across two or sometimes more institutions that are geographically and/or culturally distinct. To launch a COIL VE course, the instructor of a class at a higher education institution in one location links online with a professor and his or her class in another region or country. Together, their students engage and develop joint projects usually over a continuous five to eight-week period. Compared to the limited number of students worldwide who can engage in study abroad, COIL VE potentially opens up more equitable and inclusive participation in international education and intercultural experiences to all students. It involves them in rigorous disciplinary and interdisciplinary studies and promotes close and constructive engagement with students with different cultural perspectives. While many COIL courses are launched by individual instructors based on their research connections and online outreach, they are being increasingly supported and led by dedicated COIL Coordinators who facilitate virtual exchanges and provide professional development. This comprehensive guide covers COIL VE pedagogy, provides examples of what takes place in the COIL classroom, and explores what instructors and staff need to know to facilitate and support a variety of COIL courses across the curriculum. It addresses how institutional stakeholders, especially those in leadership positions, can develop and embed a successful COIL initiative at their institution. It offers varied perspectives of COIL viewed from different institutional and cultural vantage points from research universities, community and technical colleges and university systems and describes how COIL VE is developing in five different world regions presenting eleven case studies The book concludes with a guide to thirteen global organizations that support COIL and other forms of VE Additionally the book provides links to the COIL Connect for Virtual Exchange website <https://coilconnect.org> which includes an updated directory of organizations an expanding database of faculty and institutions participating in COIL and looking for partners course templates survey data and case studies This book offers faculty and administrators across the world whether formally involved in international education in service learning and community engagement or wanting to incorporate a cross cultural perspective in their disciplinary courses theoretical foundations guidance on effective collaboration and the strategic and pedagogical considerations to develop robust COIL VE courses and programs
