Teaching the World's Teachers Lauren Lefty, James W. Fraser, 2020-07-07 Examining teacher education in an international context this book captures the diversity of the world's educators. Many countries confront surprisingly similar challenges in preparing K-12 educators for success while national contexts also make for surprising differences. In Teaching the World's Teachers, education historians Lauren Lefty and James W. Fraser and their contributors make a convincing case for approaching these shared challenges from a more global and historically minded perspective. Written by education scholars from eleven different countries: Argentina, Brazil, Catalonia, Spain, China, England, Finland, Ghana, Israel, Singapore, South Africa, and the United States, this book provides histories of teacher education reforms between roughly 1980 and 2020. The authors show how international trends that emerged during this period collided with national and regional contexts to produce unique teacher education systems in different nations. While in some countries the embrace of markets and competition led to a deregulation of the teacher preparation field, in others teaching became a highly regulated and centralized affair. At the same time, ideas and structural models cross borders and education leaders borrow from each other while reshaping plans in each place. Opening with a broad historical overview of global teacher education models beginning in the late eighteenth century, Teaching the World's Teachers argues that the field has long been characterized by cross-border connections but shaped by geopolitical hierarchies of power. In an era when teacher quality is widely recognized as one of the most important factors in a child's education, this volume encourages dialogue among teacher educators and policymakers around the world. By understanding the context and contingency of where we have been, the authors hope that readers will walk away with a more empowered sense of where we are headed in the all-important task of teaching the world's teachers. Contributors: Kwame Akyeampong, Richard Andrews, Azeem Badroodien, Maria Inés G. F. Marcondes de Souza, Gustavo E. Fischman, James W. Fraser, Guangwei Hu, Arie Kizel, Jari Lavonen, Lauren Lefty, Wei Liao, Jason Loh, Silvana Mesquita, Hannele Niemi, Lily Orland, Barak Paula Razquin, Carol Anne Spreen, Eduard Vallory, Yisu Zhou. The Struggle for Teacher Education Tom Are Trippstad, Anja Swennen, Tobias Werler, 2017-04-20 Reform of teacher education is en vogue worldwide today due to the widespread belief that teacher education has the power to change traditional modes of schooling, educating new teachers who will be capable of improving the knowledge standard of children and boost the economic power of nations. The Struggle for Teacher Education brings together conceptual, comparative, and empirical studies from Australia, England, Finland, The Netherlands, Norway, South Africa, and South America to explore the ways in which professional education has been positioned in a reactive mode. The contributors discuss how teacher education is a contested division in higher education and look at how current reform efforts may limit the potential and work of teacher education, highlighting why this point needs more attention. Moreover, the collection reveals how teacher education's authorship on teacher professionalism may be weakened or strengthened by current reform drives and offers alternative models on how to rethink reforming teacher education      Teaching for Change L. Juliana Claassens,Charlene van der Walt,Funlola O. Teaching English Linguistics and Literature Combined explores the inextricable link between literature and language Despite being treated as separate subjects in traditional Nigerian secondary schools literature and English are deeply interconnected This book highlights the need to merge these disciplines to enhance students understanding and proficiency We examine how literary teachers often focus on the socio cultural economic and religious meanings of texts while linguistic elements receive less attention This imbalance can lead to students excelling in literary analysis but struggling with English language skills Our book argues for a symbiotic relationship between literature and language suggesting integrated teaching approaches to improve education and learning outcomes Through practical suggestions we aim to address the poor academic performance observed at secondary and tertiary levels in Nigeria By fostering a comprehensive understanding of both literature and language students can achieve greater proficiency and success

Rethinking Higher Education in Post-Apartheid South Africa Emnet Tadesse Woldegiorgis, Logan Govender, Dennis Zami Atibuni, 2025-07-25 This book explores the opportunities and epistemological and structural challenges facing higher education in postcolonial South Africa and argues for a fundamental transformation to meet the needs of the 21st century Taking the concept of transformation as a unifying thread this book discusses the evolving trajectories of higher education in South Africa with particular emphasis on the decolonial initiatives that have emerged in the post Apartheid era During this time there have been persistent calls for South Africa to move beyond Eurocentric education programmes and curricula in favour of a system that reflects the continent s culture and identities of all South Africans The book argues that incremental reforms of existing structures are insufficient and that instead a deeper more fundamental shift in higher education structures values and systems is needed Overall the book calls for a comprehensive transformation to expand access for historically disadvantaged communities enhance quality and competitiveness address past injustices and improve the quality and capacity to act together for a more sustainable and just future Also exploring the digital transformations which have accelerated in the wake of the COVID 19 pandemic this book will be an essential read for researchers and policymakers working on higher education in South Africa

Transformative Learning and Teaching in Physical Education Malcolm Thorburn, 2017-04-07 Transformative Learning and Teaching in Physical Education explores how learning and teaching in physical education might be improved and how it might become a meaningful component of young people s lives With its in depth focus on physical education within contemporary schooling the book presents a set of professional perspectives that are pivotal for realising high quality learning and teaching for physical education With contributions from a range of international academics chapters critically engage with vital issues within contemporary physical education These include examples of complex learning principles in action which are discussed as a method for bettering our understanding of various learning and teaching endeavours and which often challenge hierarchical and behaviourist notions of learning that have long held a strong foothold in physical education. Authors also engage with social ecological theories in order to help probe the complex circumstances and tensions which many teachers face in their everyday work environments where they witness first hand the contrast between discourses which espouse transformational change and the realities of their routine institutional arrangements. This book enables readers to engage in a fuller way with transformative ideas and to consider their wider implications for contemporary physical education. Its set of professional perspectives will be of great interest to academics, policymakers, teacher educators and teachers in the fields of physical education, health and well-being. It will also be a useful resource for postgraduate students studying in these subject areas.

Creating Effective Teaching and Learning Spaces: Shaping Futures and Envisioning Unity in Diversity and Transformation Zilungile Lungi Sosibo, Eunice Ivala, 2021-09-07

Higher education in post-apartheid South Africa was always likely to attract academic interest and yet there remains a dearth of research on creating teaching and learning spaces suitable for students from diverse backgrounds. Using examples from higher education institutions across the Southern African Developing Community (SADC) region, this volume explores the ways teaching and learning spaces are being used to advance the transformation agenda of higher education in these regions and provides concrete recommendations for the future. The book is sure to appeal to academics from a variety of disciplines from African, African American and ethnic studies to education and sociology. It will be of particular interest to teacher trainers, administrators and policy makers working in higher education and anyone else with a stake in managing cultural diversity in education.

Assessing Universal Health Coverage for Breast Cancer Management Professor Dr Syed Mohamed Aljunid, Dr Aidalina Binti Mahmud, 2021-04-06

Breast cancer is the most common cancer among women that affects mostly those in middle and older age groups in most parts of the world. The incidence is showing an increasing trend affecting younger women and the cost to prevent, treat and manage this chronic disease is continuously escalating. Universal Health Coverage (UHC) is an initiative by the World Health Organisation that encourages policy makers in all countries in the world to organise their health systems that are responsive in providing access to quality health care to every citizen in need of health services without facing the financial hardship. Malaysia's health system has been well developed and was said to have achieved universal health coverage based on the easy access to primary and secondary health care services in the public sector. In this book, we present our effort to assess if Malaysia provides UHC for preventive, curative and palliative care to breast cancer patients. At the inception of the study, we embarked on the development of a composite index to assess the overall status of UHC. This is followed by an extensive research to explore the extent of financial coverage for management of breast cancer. Over 300 patients in various stages of the breast cancer attending the selected public tertiary hospitals were interviewed and their medical records reviewed to assess their health spending and to estimate the incidence of catastrophic health expenditure.

The book is the first of its kind that provides comprehensive real world data on universal coverage for breast cancer patients in the world
