Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1888 edition. Excerpt: apparel and sought and obtained employment as a teamster in the quartermasters department. Her features were very large and so coarse and masculine was her general appearance that she would readily have passed as a man and in her case the deception was no doubt easily practiced. Next day she was caught and proved to be a rather prepossessing young woman and though necessarily bronzed and hardened by exposure I doubt if even with these marks of campaigning she could have deceived as readily as did her companion. How the two got acquainted I never learned and though they had joined the army independently of each other yet an intimacy had sprung up between them long before the mishaps of the foraging expedition. They both were forwarded to army headquarters and when provided with clothing suited to their sex sent back to Nashville and thence beyond our lines to Louisville. On January 9 by an order from the War Department the Army of the Cumberland had been divided into three corps designated the Fourteenth, Twentieth, and Twenty-first. This order did not alter the composition of the former grand divisions nor change the commanders but the new nomenclature was a decided improvement over the clumsy designations Right Wing, Centre, and Left Wing which were well calculated to lead to confusion. Sometimes McCook's wing became the Twentieth Corps and my division continued of the same organization and held the same number as formerly the Third Division, Twentieth Corps. My first brigade was now commanded by Brigadier General William H. Lytle, the second by Colonel Bernard L. Boldt, and the third by Colonel Luther P. Bradley. On the 4th of March I was directed to move in light marching order toward Franklin and
