Machine Dreams Philip Mirowski, 2001-12-03 This was the first cross over book into the history of science written by an historian of economics It shows how history of technology can be integrated with the history of economic ideas The analysis combines Cold War history with the history of postwar economics in America and later elsewhere revealing that the Pax Americana had much to do with abstruse and formal doctrines such as linear programming and game theory It links the literature on cyborg to economics an element missing in literature to date The treatment further calls into question the idea that economics has been immune to postmodern currents arguing that neoclassical economics has participated in the deconstruction of the integral self Finally it argues for an alliance of computational and institutional themes and challenges the widespread impression that there is nothing else besides American neoclassical economic theory left standing after the demise of Marxism A Clubbable Man Anthony W Lee, 2022-06-17 Gathering essays by some of the most distinguished scholars in eighteenth century studies A Clubbable Man takes as its theme textual and social group formations while simultaneously honoring the achievements of Greg Clingham Rounding out the collection are tributes from former students and colleagues including original poetry
