Saps Recruitment For 2016:

Police Integrity in South Africa Sanja Kutnjak Ivkovich, Adri Sauerman, 2020-04-29 Policing in South Africa has gained notoriety through its extensive history of oppressive law enforcement. In 1994 as the country's apartheid system was replaced with a democratic order, the new government faced the significant challenge of transforming the South African police force into a democratic police agency, the South African Police Service (SAPS), that would provide unbiased policing to all the country's people. More than two decades since the initiation of the reforms, it appears that the SAPS has rapidly developed a reputation as a police agency beset by challenges to its integrity. This book offers a unique perspective by providing in-depth analyses of police integrity in South Africa. It is a case study that systematically and empirically explores the contours of police integrity in a young democracy. Using the organizational theory of police integrity, the book analyzes the complex set of historical, legal, political, social, and economic circumstances shaping police integrity. A discussion of the theoretical framework is accompanied by the results of a nationwide survey of nearly 900 SAPS officers probing their familiarity with official rules, their expectations of discipline within the SAPS, and their willingness to report misconduct. The book also examines the influence of the respondents' race, gender, and supervisory status on police integrity. Written in a clear and direct style, this book will appeal to students and scholars of criminology, policing, sociology, political science, as well as to police administrators interested in expanding their knowledge about police integrity and enhancing it in their organizations.

Glaucoma Research and Clinical Advances 2016 to 2018 P.A. Knepper, J.R. Samples, 2016-02-19 This first volume of the New Concepts in Glaucoma series was conceived as a platform to express new ideas and approaches to understanding and solving primary open angle glaucoma. The authors have attempted to expand levels of knowledge, present new ideas, and challenge existing theories. Although the authors have painted a broad picture, the central theme of the book is to ask the right questions and seek the answers for patients with primary open angle glaucoma. Let There Be Light! Robert S. Dutch, 2017-06-16 Have you ever wondered what it is like to work on a nuclear power plant? Robert Dutch worked in the UK's nuclear industry for many years as a scientist and then as a tutor at a nuclear training center. He also holds degrees in theology. Drawing upon his qualifications and experience, Robert addresses the controversial issue of nuclear power from a Christian perspective. In contrast to a negative nuclear narrative often portrayed, he presents a positive nuclear narrative alongside other ways of generating electricity. Be prepared to be challenged to think seriously about nuclear's merits in providing clean, low-carbon electricity. Why We Kill Karl Kemp, 2024-03-02 Why do so many South Africans prefer taking the law into their own hands, relying on the police? Why are those who do so often cheered or sympathized with? Of the unprecedented 27,000 recorded murders in South Africa in 2022, at least 1,894 or 7 per cent were attributed to mob justice and vigilantism, more than double the number from five years before. In the first nine months of 2023, a further 1,472 mob justice deaths had already been registered. Mob justice is nothing new, but in recent years it has taken on an undeniably desperate furious edge From the breathtakingly violent Zandspruit massacre in May 2021 to the killings during the July unrest two months later to the march of Operation Dudula across the nation in 2022 vigilantism and the condoning of it has never before captured the zeitgeist of South Africa so sharply What has changed in the past few years and what does it augur for the future Following three recent cases of mob justice from the hellish metropolitan townships of Gauteng to the far flung bushveld of northern Limpopo and drawing on extensive research and interviews Why We Kill explores the roots realities and consequences of South Africa's current crisis of vigilantism

Panic City Martin J. Murray, 2020-03-10 Despite the end of white minority rule and the transition to parliamentary democracy Johannesburg remains haunted by its tortured history of racial segregation and burdened by enduring inequalities in income opportunities for stable work and access to decent housing Under these circumstances Johannesburg has become one of the most dangerous cities in the world where the yawning gap between the haves and have nots has fueled a turn toward redistribution through crime While wealthy residents have retreated into heavily fortified gated communities and upscale security estates the less affluent have sought refuge in retrofitting their private homes into safe houses closing off public streets and hiring the services of private security companies to protect their suburban neighborhoods Panic City is an exploration of urban fear and its impact on the city's evolving siege architecture the transformation of policing and obsession with security that has fueled unprecedented private consumption of protection services Martin Murray analyzes the symbiotic relationship between public law enforcement agencies private security companies and neighborhood associations wherein buyers and sellers of security have reinvented ways of maintaining outdated segregation practices that define the urban poor as suspects

Hitmen for Hire Mark Shaw, 2017-07-10 Hitmen for Hire takes the reader on a journey like no other navigating a world of paid hitmen informers rogue policemen criminal taxi bosses gang leaders and crooked politicians and businessmen Criminologist Mark Shaw examines a society in which contract killings have become commonplace looking at who arranges hits where to find a hitman and even what it is like to operate as a hitman or woman Since 1994 South Africa has seen a worrying increase in the commercialisation of murder and has been rocked by several high profile contract killings Drawing on his research of over a thousand incidents of hired assassinations from 2000 to 2016 Shaw reveals how these murders are used to exert a mafia type control over the country's legal and illegal economic activity Contracted assassinations and the organised criminal activity behind them contain sinister linkages with the underworld most visibly in relation to disputes over tenders and access to government resources State security actors increasingly mediate relations between the under and upper worlds with serious implications for the long term success of the post apartheid democratic project

Democracies in Peril Ida Bastiaens,Nita Rudra,2018-07-26 Globalization is triggering a revenue shock in developing economies International trade taxes once the primary source of government revenue have been cut drastically in response to trade liberalization Bastiaens and Rudra make the novel argument that regime type is a major determinant of revenue raising capacity once free trade policies have been adopted Specifically policymakers in democracies confront greater challenges than their authoritarian counterparts when implementing tax reforms to offset liberalization s revenue shocks The repercussions are significant while the poor bear the brunt of this revenue shortfall in democracies authoritarian regimes are better off overall Paradoxically then citizens of democracies suffer precisely because their freer political culture constrains governmental ability to tax and redistribute under globalization This important contribution on the battle between open societies and the ability of governments to help their people prosper under globalization is essential reading for students and scholars of political economy development studies and comparative politics

Police Work and Identity Andrew Faull,2017-09-07 This is a book about the men and women who police contemporary South Africa Drawing on rich original ethnographical data it considers how officers make sense of their jobs and how they find meaning in their duties It demonstrates that the dynamics that lead to police abuses and scandals in transitional and neo liberalising regimes such as South Africa can be traced to the day to day experiences and ambitions of the average police officer It is about the stories they tell themselves about themselves and their social worlds and how these shape the order they produce through their work By focusing on police officers this book positions the individual in primacy over the organisation asking what policing looks like when motivated by the pursuit of ontological security in precarious contexts It acknowledges but downplays the importance of police culture in determining officers attitudes and behaviour and reminds readers that most officers lives are entangled in and shaped by a range of social political and cultural forces It suggests that a job in the South African Police

Service SAPS is primarily just that a job Most officers join the organisation after other dreams have slipped beyond reach their presence in the Service being almost accidental But once employed they re write their self narratives and enact carefully choreographed performances to ease managerial and public pressure and to rationalize their coercive practices In an era where evidence and what works reigns supreme and where cop culture is often deemed a primary socializing force this book emphasises how officers personal histories ambitions and vulnerabilities remain central to how policing unfolds on the street

Displacement, Belonging, and Migrant Agency in the Face of Power Tamar Mayer, Trinh Tran, 2022-06-29 This book centres the voices and agency of migrants by refocusing attention on the diversity and complexity of human mobility when seen from the perspective of people on the move in doing so the volume disrupts the binary logics of migrant refugee push pull and places of origin destination that have informed the bulk of migration research Drawn from a range of disciplines and methodologies this anthology links disparate theories approaches and geographical foci to better understand the spectrum of the migratory experience from the viewpoint of migrants themselves The book explores the causes and consequences of human displacement at different scales both individual and community level and across different time points from antiquity to the present and geographies not just the Global North but also the Global South Transnational scholars across a range of knowledge cultures advance a broader global discourse on mobility and migration that centres on the direct experiences and narratives of migrants themselves Both interdisciplinary and accessible this book will be useful for scholars and students in Migration Studies Global Studies Sociology Geography and Anthropology

Capitalism, State Power, and the Production of Extremism Tahir Abbas, 2025-08-26 This book develops a comprehensive Marxist theory of radicalisation by synthesising and extending the author s two decades of research in this area The central argument of this book is that radicalisation cannot be fully understood without examining capitalism s role in creating and exacerbating the social economic and political conditions that give rise to it It contends that radicalisation is fundamentally a product of the contradictions inherent in the capitalist mode of production particularly in its neoliberal phase that the intensification of exploitation alienation and social atomisation under neoliberal capitalism creates the structural conditions for various forms of radicalisation that state responses to radicalisation rooted in the logic of capital and often employing repressive measures tend to reproduce and amplify the very conditions they seek to address and that processes of radicalisation are shaped by the complicated relationship among global capitalist dynamics and local social cultural and political contexts Therefore effective approaches to countering radicalisation must address root causes by challenging the fundamental structures of capitalist society In systematically situating contributions within a broader Marxist framework the book offers a novel and timely intervention in the field of radicalisation studies It provides scholars students and practitioners with a powerful framework for understanding and addressing one of the most pressing issues of our time and not only advances academic debates but also contributes to broader struggles for social justice and equality

African Middle Classes and Social Protest Antje Daniel, Henning Melber, Florian Stoll, 2025-11-17 This book explores class formation and political consciousness in contemporary Africa It challenges prevailing narratives by examining the nuanced emergence of middle class identities across Africa since the early 2000s Initially viewed through a narrow economic lens focused on income thresholds the concept of an African middle class has evolved into a rich field of inquiry This collection moves past superficial analyses to explore the lived experiences political orientations and social consciousness of these diverse groups Through meticulously researched case studies spanning multiple countries contributors from sociology anthropology and political science reveal the fragile and contradictory nature of middle class formation in Africa The volume interrogates how factors beyond economic criteria including education consumption patterns cultural capital and political engagement shape class identity and social movements This essential text demystifies uncritical notions of African middle classness while providing empirical depth to our understanding of how these emerging social segments navigate complex sociopolitical landscapes Scholars and students of development studies African Studies and class analysis will find this collection indispensable for understanding the intersection of class formation and political consciousness in contemporary Africa The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Journal of Contemporary African Studies Protecting the Acutely Injured Lung: Physiologic, Mechanical, Inflammatory, and Translational Perspectives Gary Frank Nieman, Maurizio Cereda, Luigi Camporota, Nader M.
