

A black and white photograph of a crowded street scene in front of a large, ornate building with arched windows. The image is slightly blurred, giving it a historical or archival feel. The building has multiple stories and large, arched windows. The street is filled with many people, some walking and some standing, suggesting a busy public space. The overall tone is historical and somewhat somber.

P. Keay,2012-06 Over 73000 Americans are still missing from the Second World War The majority of them will never be found or recovered Their remains are entombed in ships submarines and aircraft wrecks at the bottom of the world's oceans and hostile remote locations The rest of them the ones that were killed during ground combat or where shot down over land potentially could be located and recovered Almost seventy years later their families still hope and wait Now read about the real life story of twenty two year old Californian First Lieutenant Paul W Mazal A P 47 Thunderbolt pilot with the 406th Fighter Group 513th Fighter Squadron Paul Mazal was shot down by ground fire and killed on 19 March 1945

Sixty years later on 27 August 2005 his remains were recovered by a team of civilian aviation archaeologist led by the author By Christmas 2005 Paul had been returned to his family The Author is currently serving as a Sergeant First Class in the US Army as a Military Intelligence professional He has deployed to Afghanistan Bosnia and Kuwait and after serving over nineteen years is currently looking forward to near retirement He is also a twenty two year veteran of a marriage which has increased the world population by three His stepson Lucas also serves in the US Army The only child of a British Royal Air Force RAF soldier and a German mother Danny spent his formative years in England and Germany He developed his passion for archaeology when his retired father a hobby archaeologist took him along excavating Roman sites during the mid to late seventies In 1979 he researched and dug his first crash site Since 2004 Danny has been involved in the recovery of eight missing aviators one of them being the subject of this book He is the founder of Missing Aviator Research Recovery Team

The Cold! G. C. Conrad,2018-03-30 It is the year 2038 during a period dominated by the politics and corruption of a worldwide socialism movement and manmade global warming In his first eighteen months in office the new president of the United States has seemingly guided his country in a positive direction For the first time in decades it seems everyone is happy until a lone army officer makes a phone call that changes everything Army colonel Bill Crichton has just realized he and his fellow climate researchers have been deceived for the better part of thirty years After he communicates his fears to his superiors that a natural catastrophe is about to strike the planet Crichton and his small yet dedicated cadre find themselves in the crosshairs of armed international mercenaries led by powerful people with ties to the White House Now as Crichton and the female leader of a secret underground facility are unwittingly propelled into a dangerous situation they must not only attempt to stay alive amid a murderous global conspiracy but also save the human race from the next ice age
