Investigating Content and Language Integrated Learning Liss Kerstin Sylén, 2019-01-18 This book provides a rich and unique longitudinal account of content and language integrated learning CLIL The chapters report on the findings from a large scale three year research project undertaken at senior high school level in Sweden The ecological perspective with quantitative and qualitative methods gives voice to both learners and teachers as well as being an excellent critical example of how such longitudinal research might be carried out Through emic and etic approaches the book provides insights into language learning outcomes both with regard to the target language English and the majority language Swedish learner motivation among CLIL and non CLIL students effects of extramural exposure to English issues in relation to assessment in CLIL and much more As a whole the book offers an unprecedented overview of learner outcomes and detailed insights into the comparison of CLIL and non CLIL education While it is embedded in the Swedish context the nature of this study means that it has strong implications on an international basis

Migration and the Crisis of the Modern Nation State? Frank Jacob, Adam Luedtke, 2018-01-15 The anthology explores the interrelationship between migration and a supposedly existent crisis of the modern nation state The argument of such a crisis is mainly used by the New Right to stimulate nationalist feelings and provoke hate and aggression We in contrast to this perception argue that from a historical and current perspective migration is not endangering the nation state but rather changing the idea of a nation itself by redefining it In historical as well as current case studies the authors determine the political dangers of right wing demagogues while emphasizing the chances immigration is offering the progress of the nation state While it will be discussed how nationalism is impacting on the perception of migration we also want to emphasize how it is perceived by the people in the specific regions which are either confronted with migration or those which are not The authors for the volume come from different fields namely history and political sciences and are consequently able to offer the reader a broad insight into the historical roots and the current consequences nationalism had or has on the perception and the local as well as global policies towards migration The analysis of particular immigrant groups e g North Koreans in post war Korea South Asians in the Emirates Middle Eastern refugees in Europe Hispanics in the United States as well as a close reading of crisis related media newspapers and other media in Europe and the US will all in all establish a broad perspective due to which the reader will be able to compare and connect the national events to a larger global picture
