Researching with Feeling Caroline Clarke, Mike Broussine, Linda Watts, 2014-10-10 Why should researchers be interested in their feelings and emotions as they carry out research Emotion is what it is to exist to be human and is present in every sphere of our lives All activities are infused with emotion even those that are constructed as rational because rationality and emotionality are interpenetrated and entwined because all thinking is tinged with feeling and all feeling is tinged with thinking This book illuminates the emotional processes of doing social and organizational research and the implications of this for the outcomes of research With contributions from leading academics and research practitioners it addresses the significant issue of the sometimes intense emotional experiences involved in doing research and the implications it has for the theory and practice of social research By examining the nature of feelings and emotions it explores how we might understand researchers emotions and experiences and considers the often powerful feelings encountered in a variety of research contexts Topics discussed include power relations psycho social explanations of researcher emotions paradoxical relations with research participants and the sometimes disturbing data that is gained research supervision the politics of research gender publishing undergoing vivas and presenting at conferences This book will therefore be a valuable companion to researchers and research students from the start of their career onwards

Adaptation to Coastal Storms in Atlantic Canada Liette Vasseur, Mary J.

Thornbush, Steve Plante, 2017-07-26 This brief is based on an analysis that was performed on the 2010 winter storms that caused considerable damage to coastal communities in Atlantic Canada The hazards that occurred were associated with storm surge high waves coastal erosion and flooding The analysis covered a large multisite longitudinal project where a participatory action research PAR approach was used to understand how people in 10 coastal communities perceive and experience extreme weather events and to enhance their capacity to adapt and improve their resilience This brief exposes the outcome of two series of interviews and activities that were conducted during the project as well as the lessons learned and general elements that should be considered when researchers collaborate with communities to define adaptation and resilience strategies It makes an important contribution to the application of PAR as an integrated social ecological approach to resilience and how such an approach can be adapted also to other communities Proceedings of the Second International Conference on Resources and Technology (RESAT 2023) Altangerel Lkhamsuren, Battengel Baatar, Gantuya Ganbat, 2023-12-28 This is an open access book Resources and Technology RESAT 2023 will be hosted by German Mongolian Institute for Resources and Technology GMIT on June 19 20 2023 Conference participants also have the opportunity to join an extension field trip to Baganuur June 21 2023 and to attend the 12 Regional Meeting of the Society of Mining Professors SOMP which immediately follows June 22 23 2023 also hosted by GMIT A Field Guide to Grad School Jessica McCrory Calarco, 2020-08-25 An essential handbook to the unwritten and often unspoken knowledge and skills you need to succeed in grad school Some of the most important things you need to know in order to succeed in graduate school like how to choose a good advisor how to get funding for your work and whether to celebrate or cry when a journal tells you to revise and resubmit an article won't be covered in any class They are part of a hidden curriculum that you are just expected to know or somehow learn on your own or else In this comprehensive survival guide for grad school Jessica McCrory Calarco walks you through the secret knowledge and skills that are essential for navigating every critical stage of the postgraduate experience from deciding whether to go to grad school in the first place to finishing your degree and landing a job An invaluable resource for every prospective and current grad student in any discipline A Field Guide to Grad School will save you grief and help you thrive in school and beyond Provides invaluable advice about how to Choose and apply to a graduate program Stay on track in your program Publish and promote your work Get the most out of conferences Navigate the job market Balance teaching research service and life Professionalizing Multimodal Composition Santosh Khadka, Shyam B. Pandey, 2023-06-15 Multimodal composition is becoming increasingly popular in university classrooms as faculty students and institutions come to recognize that old and new technologies have enabled and even demanded the use of more than one composing mode for communicating solving problems and keeping up with the latest discourse Professionalizing Multimodal Composition embraces and enacts multimodal composition in various writing courses and programs by exploring institutional programmatic and individual faculty initiatives for capacity building and human resource development across institutions

Academic leaders scholars and faculty who have successfully designed and launched academic programs or faculty development initiatives discuss the theoretical and logistical questions considered in their design the outcomes they achieved and how others can emulate them This exchange of knowledge insight experiences and lessons learned among community members is critical for enabling or inspiring other programs departments and institutions to conceive design and launch academic programs or faculty development initiatives for their own faculty The larger goal of professionalizing is to work with teaching faculty to increase their interactional expertise with multimodal composition and this collection offers a set of models for how faculty can do that at their own institutions and in their own programs
