

Sound waves will diffract more because they have wavelengths that are substantially longer than those of light waves.

Activity C:
Interference

Get the Gizmo ready:

- Select Single central source. Check that the Wavelength is 16.0 cm.
- Set the Wave strength to 1.00.

Question: What happens when waves combine?

1. Observe: Press Play. Describe the waves you see:

Radiate away and circular.

Where might you see waves like this in nature?

at a pond.

2. Observe: Select Two central sources and set the Wave strength to 1.00. Press Play. What do you notice when the waves from the two sources collide?

When the waves meet, a pattern of spots that each represent a different crest and dip emerges.

3. Sketch: In the box at right, shade in any areas that seem to stay at the same height all the time. (Note: The two wave sources are marked with dots.)

4. Conjecture: Why do you think there are places that stay near an average height all the time?

Conjectures will differ.

5. Analyze: A helpful characteristic of combined waves is that they can be analyzed separately. To calculate the height of a point that is affected by two waves, simply add the heights of each wave. This idea is called the law of superposition.

Suppose the two waves shown below are combined.  Sketch what the resulting wave would look like. (Hint: Add up the two waves at each point, and then trace the resulting curve.)

 Either hand draw or click to EDIT to use the drawing tool.
