The Ethics of Horror Michael J. Burke, 2024-03-06 The Ethics of Horror Spectral Alterity in Twenty First Century Horror Film examines the theme of spectral haunting in contemporary American horror cinema through the lens of ethical responsibility Arguing that moral obligation can manifest as terror to the complacent self the text extracts this dimension of ethics in twenty first century horror films

Drawing on the ethical theories of Emmanuel Levinas and Jacques Derrida which posit the asymmetrical obligation of the self to the other Michael Burke highlights how recent horror films portray spectral antagonists as ethical others that hound protagonists and summon them to an accountability that they can neither evade nor ever completely fulfill Burke observes the resulting destabilization of notions of ethical responsibility and justice in a variety of contemporary horror subgenres including technohorror haunted house and zombie films Rethinking Knife Crime Elaine Williams, Peter

Squires, 2021-10-01 This critical textbook looks beyond the immediate data on knife crime to try and make sense of what is a global phenomenon Yet it especially explores why the UK in particular has become so preoccupied by this form of interpersonal often youthful violence The book explores knife crime in its global and historical context and examines crime patterns including the second wave of knife crime in Britain It then incorporates new empirical data to explore key themes including police responses popular narratives and the various interests benefiting from the knife crime industry It captures the voices of those impacted by knife crime including young people community leaders and youth work practitioners Drawing on criminology sociology cultural studies and history the book argues that the problem is firmly located at the intersection of a series of concerns about class race gender and generation that are a product of British history and its global past It seeks to trace the several roots of the contemporary knife crime epidemic ultimately to propose newer and alternative strategies for responding to it It encourages a critical engagement with this subject with the inclusion of some learning exercises for undergraduate students and above in the the social sciences whilst also speaking to researchers policy makers and practitioners
