Perceived Status Enhancement Brand Loyalty And Brand Involvement:

Perceived Status Enhancement, Brand Loyalty and Brand Involvement Chee Piong, 2014-11-25 A sample of 170 Starbucks brewed coffee customers from four Starbucks coffeehouses in South Florida were administered a survey to determine their perceptions of Starbucks brewed coffee as status enhancing as well as their attitudinal and behavioral brand loyalty and their brand involvement. Reliability and factor analyses confirmed the internal reliability and unitary structure of the multi item constructs. Linear regressions revealed that customers' perceptions of the branded product as status enhancing were positively associated with their brand involvement $R = 0.74$, $p = 0.023$ and their attitudinal brand loyalty $R = 0.214$, $p = 0.005$ but not with their behavioral brand loyalty $R = 0.091$, $p = 0.240$. These results add to the theory of status consumption and may aid companies in deciding whether to use status enhancement as a marketing strategy for their brands and products.

Starbucks Coffee as a Veblen Good Chee Piong, 2015 Although purchasing products and brands that are perceived to enhance status has become a widespread phenomenon at all socio economic levels, little is known about how customers perceiving a branded product as status enhancing is related to their brand loyalty and involvement. Companies therefore lack crucial information when deciding whether to use status enhancement as a marketing strategy for their brands and products. This quantitative study helped close the gap in research in this area by investigating whether perceiving the consumption of a particular branded good to be status enhancing was associated with customers' attitudinal and behavioral brand loyalty and their involvement with the brand. By doing so, it went beyond previous research by investigating these relationships for a non clothing good for a specific branded product Starbucks coffeehouse brewed coffee and by using a sample not restricted to college students. The sample in this study consisted of 170 Starbucks brewed coffee customers from four different Starbucks coffeehouses in South Florida. Customers were engaged via an intercept method on public property near each coffeehouse and asked to participate in the study. Willing participants were administered a brief survey to determine their perceptions of Starbucks brewed coffee as status enhancing, their attitudinal, behavioral and combined brand loyalty and their brand involvement. Responses to items were measured on seven point Likert and semantic differential scales. Reliability and factor analyses confirmed the internal reliability and unitary structure of the multi item constructs. Linear regressions revealed that customers' perceptions of the branded product as status enhancing were positively associated with their brand involvement $R = 0.74$, $p = 0.023$ and their attitudinal brand loyalty $R = 0.214$, $p = 0.005$ but not with their behavioral brand loyalty $R = 0.091$, $p = 0.240$. These results add to the theory of status consumption by providing information on how perceiving a branded product as status enhancing is related to brand loyalty and brand involvement for a specific branded good. They may also aid companies in deciding whether to use status enhancement as a marketing strategy for their brands and products. Several recommendations for practice and for further research were provided.

The Psychological Facets of Consumer-Brand Relationship in The Digital World, 2nd edition Khalid Hussain, Huayu Shi, Muzhar Javed, Muhammad Junaid, 2025-10-10

The nature of consumer brand relationships is rapidly changing since the emergence of the COVID 19 pandemic as more and more businesses are shifting online. The online consumer journey has different components than that based in the physical environment. Therefore, understanding online consumer brand relationships is crucial, particularly the psychological aspects of decision making processes and engagements with brands. The Internet has revamped the marketing world for businesses and consumers. Online retail platforms such as Amazon, eBay, Walmart, Alibaba, Facebook Marketplace, and Shopify became the key players enabling digital businesses, while social media platforms such as Twitter, Facebook, Instagram, Tik Tok, and Snapchat have modernized consumer behavior. Social media allow consumers to share, contribute, and access information very easily. Empowered with information, consumers shape the market trends, inviting unprecedented competition. There is a dire need to understand the factors influencing the online consumer journey. Why consumers' shopping behaviors are different in the digital world? What role do online product/service reviews play in influencing consumer decisions? How dynamic is the consumer relationship with digital brands? And how do consumers interact with online brand communities? This article collection focuses on research that will help us understand the psychological facets of digital consumer behavior. The topics of interest include but are not limited to the following:

- Nature of the consumer brand relationship in the digital context
- Dynamics of consumer brand relationship e.g. how does consumer brand relationship evolve? How does it change, increase, or decline?
- Sellers' opportunistic behaviors in the online context
- Consumer distrust with online reviews e.g. fake reviews, review manipulations
- Ethics in the digital marketing context
- Consumers' privacy concerns with social media platforms, apps, and other digital outlets
- Consumers' responses to digital brand crises
- Online brand addiction
- Online customer engagement e.g. brand communities
- Customers' co-creation experience with digital products and services
- Digital consumer journey
- Brand evangelism
- Influencer marketing

We also welcome any other topics that address psychological aspects of consumer brand relationships in the digital context.
