Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and blood pressure (BP) of sedentary, middle-aged men. The subjects were randomly assigned to a control group (CG) and an exercise group (EG). The EG performed a 10-week training program consisting of 3 sessions per week of aerobic and resistance exercise. The CG performed no exercise. The HR and BP were measured at baseline and at the end of the 10-week training program. The EG showed a significant decrease in HR and BP compared to the CG. The results suggest that a 10-week training program can effectively reduce HR and BP in sedentary, middle-aged men.

- Day and night periods that are longer than the standard 24 hours occur most commonly with the use of artificial light or other light-emitting devices. Likewise, there are also long periods of complete darkness in the case of the forest.
- Several measures that are commonly used to alter the day and night periods are:
 - 1. Light intensity specifications, the length of the day and night periods depending on the soil moisture requirements.
 - 2. The use of natural light filtering, which may change the period of natural day periods, depending on the amount of light that is provided.
 - 3. The use of artificial light sources for those periods of complete darkness that are required for the life cycle of a seed.

When you install your T-Value One Connection, improper installation of all four screws (50 combinations for One Connection) will void the warranty. Please, before installing, refer to the correct installation instructions. Failure to maintain proper ventilation may result in a variety of problems with the product.

- When a producer's price for the output rises or falls, it must adjust its output level accordingly. For example, suppose the price for the output rises. The producer will want to produce more of the output because the marginal revenue from selling the output is now higher. The producer will continue to increase output until the marginal revenue is equal to the marginal cost of production.
