New Ventilation Guidelines For Health Care Facilities:

Infections and Pregnancy Sumita Mehta, Anshul Grover, 2022-03-25 This book is a complete guide to the diagnosis and management of any infectious disease which may affect the mother or the fetus during pregnancy. Pregnancy is a unique condition in which the interplay of endocrine and immune influences leads to altered severity and susceptibility to infectious diseases. These infections in turn are a substantial cause of maternal and perinatal morbidity. The book discusses the immunologic, clinical, and epidemiologic evidence for altered responses during pregnancy. Several infections have unique consequences in pregnancy. Some infections have vertical transmission and their management focuses on decreasing perinatal transmission. Others can be transmitted transplacentally and cause congenital infection. While still other common infections like gastroenteritis, UTI, tuberculosis, leprosy, or certain dermatological and oral conditions can cause pregnancy complications. This book discusses all such diseases in detail as well as suggests means for early identification and appropriate treatment for them. A separate chapter adequately covers the novel coronavirus infection associated with management challenges in pregnant women. The book includes dedicated sections on postpartum infections and fetal outcomes associated with maternal infections. It reviews strategies to prevent infection in obstetrics that plays a key role in decreasing the global burden of maternal morbidity and mortality. The book is relevant for practicing obstetricians and gynecologists, postgraduate students of obstetrics and gynecology, as well as general practitioners, family medicine specialists, primary health care workers, and undergraduate medical students.

Architectural Factors for Infection and Disease Control AnnaMarie Bliss, Dak Kopec, 2022-09-05 This edited collection explores disease transmission and the ways that the designed environment has promoted or limited its spread. It discusses the many design factors that can be used for infection and disease control through lenses of history, public health, building technology, design, and education. This book calls on designers to consider the role of the built environment as the primary source of bacterial, viral, and fungal transfers through fomites, ventilation systems, and overcrowding and spatial organization. Through 19 original contributions, it provides an array of perspectives to understand how the designed environment may offer a reprieve from disease. The authors build a historical foundation of infection and disease using examples ranging from lazarettos to leprosy centers to show how the ability to control infection and disease has long been a concern for humanity. The book goes on to discuss disease propagation, putting forth a variety of ideas to control the transmission of pathogens, including environmental design strategies, pedestrian dynamics, and open space. Its final chapters serve as a prospective way forward focusing on COVID-19 and the built environment in a post-pandemic world. Written for students and academics of architecture, design, and urban planning, this book ignites creative action on the ways to design our built environment differently and more holistically. Please note that research on COVID-19 has exponentially grown since this volume was written in October 2020. References cited reflect the evolving nature of research studies at that time.

Hospital Epidemiology and Infection Control C. Glen Mayhall, 2012-02-20

Thoroughly revised and updated for its Fourth Edition this highly acclaimed volume is the most comprehensive reference on hospital epidemiology and infection control. Written by over 150 leading experts, this new edition examines every type of hospital acquired nosocomial infection and addresses every issue relating to surveillance, prevention and control of these infections in patients and in healthcare workers. This new edition features new or significantly increased coverage of emerging infectious diseases, avian influenza, governmental regulation of infection control and payment practices related to hospital acquired infections, molecular epidemiology, the increasing prevalence of community acquired MRSA in healthcare facilities, system wide infection control provisions for healthcare systems, hospital infection control issues following natural disasters and antimicrobial stewardship in reducing the development of antimicrobial resistant organisms. Morbidity

Construction Paulo Mendonça, Nuno Dinis Cortiços, 2022-02-01. This book gathers the proceedings of the 7th International Conference on Architecture, Materials and Construction (ICAMC) held in Lisbon, Portugal, on October 27-29, 2021. ICAMC serves as an international forum for the presentation of the latest technological advances and research results in the fields of architecture and urban planning, civil and structural engineering, and materials manufacturing and processing. As such, it explores highly diverse topics including innovative construction technologies, computer and digital manufacturing, and materials, polymers, composites, etc. traditional materials, glass, wood, steel, concrete, stone, brick, etc. and its harmonic combination, which can be achieved by evaluating their structural and non-structural properties, the key concepts of efficiency and sustainability related to the architectural design and engineering of new buildings, analysis, rehabilitation and restoration of buildings. The contributions, which were selected by means of a rigorous international peer review process, highlight numerous exciting ideas that will spur novel research directions and foster multidisciplinary collaborations. Green

Healthcare Institutions. Institute of Medicine, Board on Population Health and Public Health Practice, Roundtable on Environmental Health Sciences, Research, and Medicine, 2007-06-14. Green Healthcare Institutions: Health Environment and Economics Workshop Summary. is based on the ninth workshop in a series of workshops sponsored by the Roundtable on Environmental Health Sciences, Research, and Medicine, since the roundtable began meeting in 1998. When choosing workshops and activities, the roundtable looks for areas of mutual concern and also areas that need further research to develop a strong environmental science background. This workshop focused on the environmental and health impacts related to the design, construction and operations of healthcare facilities, which are part of one of the largest service industries in the United States. Healthcare institutions are major employers with a considerable role in the community, and it is important to analyze this significant industry. The environment of healthcare facilities is unique; it has multiple stakeholders on both sides.
