The Final Empire Wm. H. Kötke,2007-11 In spite of its tough message there is much compassion and humanity in The Final Empire Right away as you begin to read this work you sense increasingly the grand perspective in K tke s words He is not speaking of anarchy He is offering vital common sense It's just that his meaning is so unavoidably political And so much against what we have been taught all our lives The materialistic values of civilization teach us that the accumulation of wealth is progress The material wealth of the civilization is derived from the death of the earth the soils the forests the fish stocks the free resources of flora and fauna The ultimate end of this is for all human species to live in giant parasitical cities of cement and metal while surrounded by deserts of exhausted soils The simple polar opposites are the richness and wealth of the natural life of earth versus the material wealth of people living out their lives in artificial environments This amounts to a direct challenge to humankind A demand for radical change A re-envisioning of our part in the community of life and the precepts of individuality And Mr Ktke provides a strong argument for this case He traces the environmental scars of civilization through the ages Empire after empire desertification of the top soil winds its way around the globe in an erosive helix from China to India to Mesopotamia to Italy to North America As radical as it may seem at first glance The Final Empire is a necessary and sensible primer for the recovery of the planet It blends a critical statistical analysis of our deteriorating environment with a positivism of hope for a post empire age and a new whole human relation to the living community of Earth Dan Armstrong Author of the Novels Prairie Fire and Taming the Dragon Food Autonomy in Chicago Pancho McFarland, 2025-04-15

Through eighteen years of field research dialogues with colleagues deep involvement in the food movement community in Chicago and introspection Pancho McFarland asks Is the loosely connected network of Black and Indigenous land stewards and food warriors in Chicago an anticolonial force for the liberation of all our relations This examination of a sector of the food autonomy movement in Chicago provides important new ways of understanding race relations gender sexuality spirituality pedagogy identity and their importance to the dynamics of social movements Additionally the book explores how revolutionary culture principles and organization of American Indigenous diasporan Africans anarchist Mexicans and others have been adopted adapted or rejected in our food movement In this autoethnography of the food movement McFarland argues that at our best we work to establish a new society like that theorized and enacted by Indigenous and Black anarchists However the forces of Wetiko colonialism capitalism heteropatriarchy and white supremacy make the work of BIPOC food warriors difficult Wetiko's conceptual categories including race gender sexuality and citizenship influence our worldviews and affect our behaviors These limitations and our responses to them are captured in the dialogues and chapters of Food Autonomy in Chicago The Food Forest Handbook Darrell Frey, Michelle Czolba, 2017-05-01

Together is the only resource available that provides step by step practical how to information on how to launch and sustain a successful ecovillage or intentional community Through anecdotes stories and cautionary tales about real communities and by profiling seven successful communities in depth the book examines the successful 10 percent and why 90 percent fail the role of community founders getting a group off to a good start vision and vision documents decision making and governance agreements legal options finding financing and developing land structuring a community economy selecting new members and communication process and dealing well with conflict Sample vision documents community agreements and visioning exercises are included along with abundant resources for learning more

Revising Green Infrastructure Daniel Czechowski, Thomas Hauck, Georg Hausladen, 2018-10-08 Consider this How do we handle the convergence of landscape architecture ecological planning and civil engineering What are convenient terms and metaphors to communicate the interplay between design and ecology What are suitable scientific theories and technological means What innovations arise from multidisciplinary and cross scalar approaches What are appropriate aesthetic statements and spatial concepts What instruments and tools should be applied Revising Green Infrastructure Concepts Between Nature and Design examines these questions and presents innovative approaches in designing green landscape or nature as infrastructure from different perspectives and attitudes instead of adding another definition or category of green infrastructure The editors bring together the work of selected ecologists engineers and landscape architects who discuss a variety of theoretical aspects research projects teaching methods and best practice examples in green infrastructure The approaches range from retrofitting existing infrastructures through landscape based integrations of new infrastructures and envisioning prospective landscapes as hybrids machines or cultural extensions The book explores a scientific functional approach in landscape architecture It begins with an overview of green functionalism and includes examples of how new design logics are deducted from ecology in order to meet economic and environmental requirements and open new aesthetic relationships toward nature The contributors share a decidedly cultural perspective on nature as landscape Their ecological view emphasizes the individual nature of specific local situations Building on this foundation the subsequent chapters present political ideas and programs defining social relations toward nature and their integration in different planning systems as well as their impact on nature and society They explore different ways of participation and cooperation within cities regions and nations They then describe projects implemented in local contexts to solve concrete problems or remediate malfunctions These projects illustrate the full scope presented and discussed throughout the book the use of scientific knowledge strategic thinking communication with municipal authorities and local stakeholders design implementation on site and documentation and control of feedback and outcome with adequate indicators and metrics Although diverse and sometimes controversial the discussion of how nature is regarded in contrast to society how human natural systems could be organized and how nature could be changed optimized or designed raises the question of whether there is a new paradigm for the design of social relations to nature The
