Unifying Systems Aarne Mämmelä, 2025-04-29 Interdisciplinary systems thinking is complementary but does not replace conventional disciplinary analytical thinking The book is valuable for researchers their advisors and other thinkers interested in deep knowledge of science Interdisciplinary systems thinking is valuable for three reasons The goal of all science is a unified view of the world we cannot solve the significant problems of our time without interdisciplinary collaboration and general theories of systems and system archetypes support the solution to those problems System archetypes are generic system models that have stood the test of time As specialists within a discipline we must be able to communicate between disciplines Interdisciplinary generalists can offer us reliable visions and relevant research problems The goal of interdisciplinary research is to find unified solutions to those problems The book provides a lot of information from over a thousand sources in a structured manner to help the reader The book includes a comprehensive chronology vocabulary and bibliography The author has been a research professor in information engineering for over 25 years During his career he became interested in systems thinking which is closely related to the philosophy and history of science

Active Learning: Theoretical Perspectives, Empirical Studies and Design Profiles Robert Cassidy, Elizabeth S. Charles, James D. Slotta, Nathaniel Lasry, 2019-07-11 This book represents the emerging efforts of a growing international network of researchers and practitioners to promote the development and uptake of evidence based pedagogies in higher education at something a level approaching large scale impact By offering a communication venue that attracts and enhances much needed partnerships among practitioners and researchers in pedagogical innovation we aim to change the conversation and focus on how we work and learn together i.e. extending the implementation and knowledge of co design methods In this first edition of our Research Topic on Active Learning we highlight two of the three types of publications we wish to promote First are studies aimed at understanding the pedagogical designs developed by practitioners in their own practices by bringing to bear the theoretical lenses developed and tested in the education research community These types of studies constitute the practice pull that we see as a necessary counterbalance to knowledge push in a more productive pedagogical innovation ecosystem based on research practitioner partnerships Second are studies empirically examining the implementations of evidence based designs in naturalistic settings and under naturalistic conditions Interestingly the teams conducting these studies are already exemplars of partnerships between researchers and practitioners who are uniquely positioned as in between straddling the two worlds As a result these publications represent both the rigours of research and the pragmatism of reflective practice In forthcoming editions we will add to this collection a third type of publication design profiles These will present practitioner developed pedagogical designs at varying levels of abstraction to be held to scrutiny amongst practitioners instructional designers and researchers alike We hope by bringing these types of studies together in an open access format that we may contribute to the development of new forms of practitioner researcher interactions that promote co design in pedagogical innovation
