Some Developments in Research in Science and Mathematics in Sub-Saharan Africa Lorna Holtman, 2008 Much attention in late developing countries is given to providing access to studies which allow school leavers to enter science and technology related careers These programmes are driven by the belief that graduates will then substantially contribute to the developmental needs of their countries But is providing access to institutions enough Students in developing countries often come from school environments lacking in resources human physical and financial This book in a number of chapters reviews research related to the crucial dimension of epistemological access to the disciplines of import which students need as much as institutional access in order to improve their chances of success A significant feature of this collection's research studies is that their empirical bases are highly localised covering areas such as research methods access curriculum instruction and assessment and the relevance of science and mathematics education in Zimbabwe Uganda Swaziland South Africa Namibia Malawi Ghana and Lesotho This volume provides invaluable insights and will be of relevance to researchers policy makers and lecturers interested in these research outcomes in Sub Saharan Africa It is the outcome of a doctoral research capacity development project the Graduate Studies in Science Mathematics and Technology Education GRASSMATE Swaziland: Contemporary Social and Economic Issues Peter G. Forster, Bongani J. Nsibande, 2018-05-08 This title was first published in 2000 Up to date information on socio economic issues in contemporary Swaziland is not always readily accessible This work fills that gap by including contributions by Swazi scholars based on recent research Swaziland is of particular interest because of its culture and development the special characteristics of small states and regional development in Southern Africa Swaziland faces some problems found generally in developing areas but others are distinctive The cultural dimension to development is paid close attention throughout Foreign Affairs Research Special Papers Available Foreign Affairs Research Documentation Center, 1976 Accessions List, Eastern and Southern Africa Library of Congress. Library of Congress Office, Nairobi, Kenya, 1993 Socio-Cultural Perspectives on Science Education W.W. Cobern, 2012-12-06 Global science education is a reality at the end of the 20th century albeit an uneven reality because of tremendous technological and economic pressures Unfortunately this reality is rarely examined in the light of what interests the everyday lives of ordinary people rather than the lives of political and economic elites The purpose of this book is to offer insightful and thought provoking commentary on both realities The tacit question throughout the book is Whose interests are being served by current science education practices and policies The various chapters offer critical analysis from the perspectives of culture economics epistemology equity gender language and religion in an effort to promote a reflective science education that takes place within rather than taking over the important cultural lives of people The target audience for the book includes graduate students in education science education and education policy professors policy and government officials involved with education Joint Acquisitions List of Africana, 1988 South African Journal of Science, 1915 MASCA Research
