Tolia-Kelly, Emma Waterton, Steve Watson, 2016-07-01 Heritage and its economies are driven by affective politics and consolidated through emotions such as pride awe joy and pain In the humanities and social sciences there is a widespread acknowledgement of the limits not only of language and subjectivity but also of visibility and representation Social scientists particularly within cultural geography and cultural studies have recently attempted to define and understand that which is more than representational through the development of theories of affect assemblage post humanism and actor network theory to name a few While there have been some recent attempts to draw these lines of thinking more forcefully into the field of heritage studies this book focuses for the first time on relating heritage with the politics of affect The volume argues that our engagements with heritage are almost entirely figured through the politics of affective registers such as pain loss joy nostalgia pleasure belonging or anger It brings together a number of contributions that collectively and with critical acuity question how researchers working in the field of heritage might begin to discover and describe affective experiences especially those that are shaped and expressed in moments and spaces that can be at times intensely personal intimately shared and ultimately social It explores current theoretical advances that enable heritage to be affected released from conventional understandings of both heritage as objects and objects as representations by opening it up to a range of new meanings emergent and formed in moments of encounter Whilst representational understandings of heritage are by no means made redundant through this agenda they are destabilized and can thus be judged anew in light of these developments Each chapter offers a novel and provocative contribution provided by an interdisciplinary team of researchers who are thinking theoretically about affect through landscapes practices of commemoration visitor experience site interpretation and other heritage work

The Political Economy of City Branding
Ari-Veikko Anttiroiko,2014-02-24 Globalization affects urban communities in many ways One of its manifestations is increased intercity competition which compels cities to increase their attractiveness in terms of capital entrepreneurship information expertise and consumption This competition takes place in an asymmetric field with cities trying to find the best possible ways of using their natural and created assets the latter including a naturally evolving reputation or consciously developed competitive identity or brand The Political Economy of City Branding discusses this phenomenon from the perspective of numerous post industrial cities in North America Europe East Asia and Australasia Special attention is given to local economic development policy and industrial profiling and global city rankings are used to provide empirical evidence for cities characteristics and positions in the global urban hierarchy On top of this social and urban challenges such as creative class struggle are also discussed The core message of the book is that cities should apply the tools of city branding in their industrial promotion and specialization but at the same time take into account the special nature of their urban communities and be open and inclusive in their brand policies in order to ensure optimal results This book will be of interest to scholars and practitioners working in the areas of local economic development urban planning public management and branding

Raw Deal Steven Hill,2015-10-20 What s going to happen to my job That s what an increasing number of anxious Americans are asking themselves The US workforce which has been one of the most productive and wealthiest in the world is undergoing an alarming transformation Increasing numbers of workers find themselves on shaky ground turned into freelancers temps and contractors Even many full time and professional jobs are experiencing this precarious shift Within a decade a near majority of the 145 million employed Americans will be impacted Add to that the steamroller of automation robots and artificial intelligence already replacing millions of workers and projected to obsolesce millions more and the jobs picture starts looking grim Now a weird yet historic mash up of Silicon Valley technology and Wall Street greed is thrusting upon us the latest economic fraud the so called sharing economy with companies like Uber Airbnb and TaskRabbit allegedly liberating workers to become independent and their own CEOs hiring themselves out for ever smaller jobs and wages while the companies profit But this share the crumbs economy is just the tip of a looming iceberg that the middle class is drifting toward Raw Deal How the Uber Economy and Runaway Capitalism Are Screwing American Workers by veteran journalist Steven Hill is an expos that challenges conventional thinking and the hype celebrating this new economy by showing why the vision of the techno sapien leaders and their Ayn Rand libertarianism is a dead end In Raw Deal Steven Hill proposes pragmatic policy solutions to transform the US economy and its safety net and social contract launching a new kind of deal to restore power back into the hands of American workers

1 2 Audiovisual Alterity Michael L. Austin, 2024-11-04 This new book fully expands our understanding of how historically marginalized groups are represented in music videos Author Michael Austin explores the ways in which Asian and Pacific Islanders Indigenous communities the LGBTQIA community drag performers religious minorities and the incarcerated are represented The book also covers several contemporary controversies involving music videos especially cultural appropriation Importantly this book also explores the ways in which marginalized communities use music videos as a way to find their own voice and represent themselves

Transnational Families, Migration and the Circulation of Care Loretta Baldassar, Laura Merla, 2013-09-11 Without denying the difficulties that confront migrants and their distant kin this volume highlights the agency of family members in transnational processes of care in an effort to acknowledge the transnational family as an increasingly common family form and to question the predominantly negative conceptualisations of this type of family It re conceptualises transnational care as a set of activities that circulates between home and host countries across generations and fluctuates over the life course going beyond a focus on mother child relationships to include multidirectional exchanges across generations and between genders It highlights in particular how the sense of belonging in transnational families is sustained by the reciprocal though uneven exchange of caregiving which binds members together in intergenerational networks of reciprocity and obligation love and trust that are simultaneously fraught with tension contest and relations of unequal power The chapters that make up this volume cover a rich array of ethnographic case studies including analyses of transnational families who circulate care between developing nations in Africa Latin America and Asia to wealthier nations in North America Europe and Australia There are also examples of intra and extra European Australian and North American migration which involve the mobility of both the unskilled and working class as well as the skilled middle and aspirational classes

Teaching Design Meredith Davis, 2017-07-11 An Expertly Written Guidebook to Teaching Design at All Levels Teaching Design provides a practical foundation for teaching about and through design The exploding interest in design and design thinking calls for qualified faculty members who are well prepared for a variety of institutional settings and content areas While designers know their disciplines they frequently lack experience in constructing responsive curricula and pedagogies for rapidly evolving professions And while K 12 educators are trained for the classroom their ability to transform teaching and learning through design is limited by a shortfall in professional literature Davis's extensive experience in education offers a detailed path for the development of curricula. The book addresses writing objectives and learning outcomes that succeed in the counting and measuring culture of institutions but also meet the demands of a twenty-first century education. An inventory of pedagogical strategies suggests approaches to learning that serve both college professors and K-12 teachers who want to actively engage students in critical and creative thinking. Sections on assessment make the case for performance-based activities that provide credible evidence of student learning. Davis also discusses the nature of contemporary problems and teaching strategies that are well matched to growing complexity, rapid technological change, and increased demand for interdisciplinary engagement. Examples in Teaching Design span the design disciplines and draw on Davis's experience in teaching seminars for college faculty, graduate courses for design students seeking academic careers, and workshops for K-12 teachers converting their classrooms into centers for innovation.

America's Addiction to Automobiles Chad Frederick, 2017-09-21 A provocative look at our nation's dependency on the automobile and how its potential impact on urban design will either make or break our health, economy, and quality of life. In this thought-provoking work, author and urban planning expert Chad Frederick scrutinizes the use of automobiles in cities, investigating its role in exacerbating urban inequalities and thwarting sustainability of modern society. Through a comprehensive, thoughtful discussion, Frederick illustrates how the automobile is fundamentally at odds with the very nature of cities. He shows how cars impose huge burdens on our health, equity, environment, local and national economy, and quality of life. Most of all, he shows how automobile dependency has put our entire society at risk. The book delves into the monumental role of automobiles in the development of cities after the Great Depression, impacting the American identity and affecting the way we produce and manage urban spaces. Frederick provides compelling evidence that cities with more diverse modes of transportation are greener, healthier, more prosperous, and even more enjoyable places to live than automobile-dependent cities. He identifies one institution responsible for our inability to improve our cities: the social sciences, and examines the root cause of our inability to make progress toward more multi-modal cities. In conclusion, the author offers a radical solution for moving beyond the underlying logic that forces us to create automobile-dependent cities.

Theme Cities: Solutions for Urban Problems Wayne K.D. Davies, 2015-03-23 This book reviews a series of new urban ideas or themes designed to help make cities more liveable, sustainable, safe, and inclusive. Featuring examples drawn from cities all over the world, the various chapters provide critical assessments of each of the various approaches and their potential to improve urban life. New Urbanism: creating new areas based on a more humane scale with neighbourhood cohesion. Just Cities: creating more fairness in decision-making so all residents can participate and benefit. Green Cities: helping places become greener with environmental rehabilitation and protection. Sustainable Cities: avoiding the waste of resources and harmful pollution in settlements. Transition Towns: developing local initiatives for more sustainable actions. Winter Cities: making cities in cold climates more comfortable and enjoyable. Resilient Cities: strengthening cities to better enable them to withstand natural hazards Creative Cities supporting cultural industries and attracting talented individuals Knowledge Cities creating renewing and spreading knowledge and innovation Safe Cities ensuring that citizens are better protected against criminal actions Healthy Cities making improvements in the health of people in cities Festive Cities rediscovering the utility of festive events in settlements Slow Cities enhancing locally unique activities such as local cuisines and community interactions This volume offers a host of approaches designed to give a new direction and focus to planning policies helping readers to fully understand the advantages and disadvantages of each potential idea It seeks to solve the many current problems associated with urban developments making it a valuable resource for university and college students in urban geography urban planning urban sociology and urban studies as well as to planners and the general public
