My PAW-sitively PAW-some Hy-PAW-thesis

By Preston D.A.
De Leon

PROCEDURE

- 1. I put every cat in a room and I used a treat to see if they would use the left paw or the right paw. Then I dropped the cat down to see if they would use the left paw or the right paw to get up. I also put food on the ground to see if they would use the left paw or the right paw to eat it. I marked if they used their right or left paw. I tried these tests many times to see what would happen.

CONCLUSION

The cats that I tested mostly did not have dominant paws. The cats that I tested in the right paw sometimes. Sometimes the cats used their left, right, or both paws. Some of the cats had a dominant left paw and some had a dominant right, but they seemed to just use whichever would help them when they couldn't get to the treat. They sometimes even used their head to get the treat.

What I Learned

I learned that sometimes the cats were confused in tests or playing, but sometimes they were more interested than the other cats were. During tests, I learned some cats were both paws, some were right paws, and some were left paws. I also learned that I was right about

RESULTS

Research

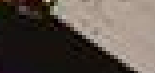

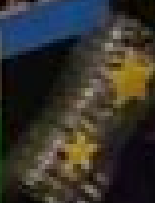

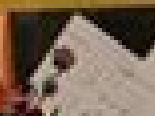

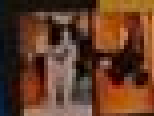

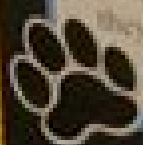

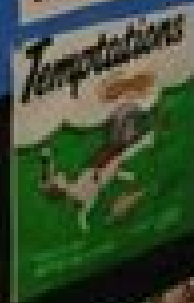

I found that some cats have a dominant paw. I found that some cats have a dominant right paw and some have a dominant left paw. I found that some cats have no dominant paw.
