- 1) Create a new separate entity. Following entity is referred to as the new entity or child.
- 2) Define all primary & secondary relationships.
Initially, create link after the association is made.
Example: A new entity is created to represent a new type of investment. Based on the above profile, it is obvious that the link is to the association. The association is already supported in the existing model and requires no modification to the existing model.

1. The first step in the process of creating a business plan is to conduct a market analysis. This involves researching the industry, identifying potential customers, and understanding the competitive landscape.
2. Once the market analysis is complete, the next step is to develop a business model. This involves determining how the business will generate revenue and what its primary costs will be.
3. The third step is to create a financial plan. This involves projecting the business's financial performance over a period of time, typically three to five years. This includes estimating revenue, expenses, and profit.
4. The fourth step is to write a marketing plan. This involves developing strategies for promoting the business and reaching potential customers. This may include advertising, public relations, and sales efforts.
5. The fifth and final step is to create an executive summary. This is a concise overview of the entire business plan, highlighting the key points and conclusions.

Although there is a general consensus in the field that the literature on the relationship between the two constructs is limited, there is no consensus on what the relationship should be. Some researchers suggest that the two constructs are independent, while others suggest that they are related. This paper aims to explore the relationship between the two constructs and to provide a theoretical framework for future research.
