Developing to Scale Heidi Morefield, 2023-10-24 The first critical book on appropriate technology Developing to Scale shows how global health came to be understood as a problem to be solved with the right technical interventions In 1973 economist E F Schumacher published Small Is Beautiful which introduced a mainstream audience to his theory of appropriate technology the belief that international development projects in the Global South were most sustainable when they were small scale decentralized and balanced between the traditional and the modern His theory gained widespread appeal as cuts to the foreign aid budget the national interests of nations seeking greater independence postcolonial activism and the rise of the United States tech sector drove stakeholders across public and private institutions toward cheaper tools In the ensuing decades US foreign assistance shifted away from massive modernization projects such as water treatment facilities toward point of use technologies like village water pumps and oral rehydration salts This transition toward the small scale had massive implications for the practice of global health Developing to Scale tells the history of appropriate technology in international health and development relating the people organizations and events that shaped this consequential idea Heidi Morefield examines how certain technologies have been defined as more or less appropriate for the Global South based on assumptions about gender race culture and environment Her study shows appropriate technology to be malleable as different constituencies interpreted its ideas according to their own needs She reveals how policymakers wielded this tool to both constrain aid to a scale that did not threaten Western interests and to scale the practice of global health through the development and distribution of technical interventions

Remedies for Human Rights Violations Kent Roach, 2021-04-08 An innovative book that provides fresh insights into the neglected field of remedies in both international and domestic human rights law Providing an overarching two track theory it combines remedies to compensate and prevent irreparable harm to litigants with a more dialogic approach to systemic remedies It breaks new ground by demonstrating how proportionality principles can improve remedial decision making and avoid reliance on either strong discretion or inflexible rules It draws on the latest jurisprudence from the European and Inter American Courts of Human Rights and domestic courts in Australia Canada India New Zealand Hong Kong South Africa the United Kingdom and the United States Separate chapters are devoted to interim remedies remedies for laws that violate human rights damages remedies in the criminal process declarations and injunctions in institutional cases remedies for violations of social and economic rights and remedies for violations of Indigenous rights Ghana Philip Briggs,2019-08-05 This 8th edition of Bradt's Ghana remains the only dedicated guidebook on the market and the most comprehensive source of travel information on the first country in sub Saharan Africa to gain independence and the world's second largest producer of chocolate Covering everything from Ghana's 550km of Atlantic coastline to its remote and sparsely populated northern border with Burkina Faso this new edition has been thoroughly updated and is an ideal companion no matter what your interests are Written by Philip Briggs arguably the world's most experienced guidebook writer it covers everything from inexpensive opportunities to see wildlife to cultural and historical aspects such as the slave trading posts Background practical and health information are complemented by a dedicated illustrated chapter on wildlife 63 maps and 18 chapters split across five regional sections from Accra and surrounds to the coast through eastern and central Ghana right up to the north The popular Cape Coast and the Ashanti regions are both covered as is the increasingly high profile Chale Wote Street Art festival Friendly safe and inexpensive Ghana is an ideal destination for first time visitors to Africa It is rich in little visited national parks forest reserves cultural sites and scenic waterfalls and blessed with bleached white beaches and the lush rainforest of the Atlantic coastline Bradt's Ghana is accompanied by a dedicated updated website run by the author himself and caters for everyone from birdwatchers to bar hoppers Whether you want to cruise the world's largest man made reservoir Lake Volta on a pokey old steamer hike with elephants in Mole National Park or party all night in Accra's glittering Osu district Bradt's Ghana is an indispensable companion The Encyclopaedia Britannica ,1929 Encyclopaedia Britannica ,1929 AF Press Clips ,1969-07

Anthropology and Responsibility Melissa Demian,Mattia Fumanti,Christos Lynteris,2023-03-31 This book explores the role and implications of responsibility for anthropology asking how responsibility is recognised and invoked in the world what relations it draws upon and how it comes to define notions of the person institutional practices ways of knowing and modes of evaluation The category of responsibility has a long genealogy within the discipline of anthropology and it surfaces in contemporary debates as well as in anthropologists collaboration with other disciplines including when anthropology is applied in fields such as development medicine and humanitarian response As a category that unsettles challenges and critically engages with political ethical and epistemological questions responsibility is central to anthropological theory ethnographic practice collaborative research and applied engagement With chapters focused on a variety of cultural contexts this volume considers how anthropology can contribute to a better understanding of responsibility including the responsibility of anthropology and the responsibility of anthropologists to specific others The Encyclopedia Britannica James Louis Garvin, Franklin Henry Hooper, Warren E. Cox, 1929 Transforming African Food Systems Claire Helen Quinn, Andrew John Dougill, Julian Douglas May, 2025-10-24 Overcoming Africa's development challenges cannot be uncoupled from the need to transform the continent's food systems One in four people in sub-Saharan Africa faces food insecurity and Africa will need to produce 80% more food by 2050 The challenge is complicated by the interrelationship between agriculture and environmental sustainability In addition agriculture also remains one of the most effective pathways out of poverty on the continent As agriculture both contributes to and is affected by climate change there is a pressing need for innovation in climate smart agriculture that considers the environment as integral to the food system However access to nutritious safe food and improved livelihoods does not solely depend on boosting agricultural productivity Food systems encompass the activities and actors involved in all aspects of the food supply chain from production through to consumption and disposal of food A food systems research approach recognises the importance of interactions and relationships between activities actors and thus the importance of interdisciplinary approaches for achieving transformative change The concerted and coordinated actions of the food industry agriculture production and processing retail food service sector and waste disposal and consumers are crucial to promote sustainable consumption and production with a focus on reducing all forms of food losses throughout the entire supply chain Food systems transformation needs to focus not just on increasing production but on access to food and markets nutrition diversity and security climate resilience and adaptation of both agro-ecological systems and the food system more broadly This Research Topic focuses specifically on transformation of African food systems While comprising many similar activities actors to other food systems African food systems also have activities actors and conditions that are specific to the African context These contextual factors include a shared history of colonisation that creates specific historical demographic political and socio-cultural drivers of change value chains that are often short and reliant on informal exchange and small scale operations distinct territorial imbalances that create significant inequalities and normative and cognitive institutions that create diverse cultural beliefs and values while influencing the roles of women and youth in food systems We welcome submission of original research articles case studies systematic reviews or meta-analysis that offer new insights and perspectives on African food systems transformation This topic will bring together interdisciplinary research and practice and provide a platform for knowledge exchange collaboration and collective action for transforming African food systems so that they are equitable resilient and sustainable Outlook Alfred Emanuel Smith, Francis Walton, 1891 The Encyclopædia Britannica James Louis Garvin, Franklin Henry Hooper, Warren Earle Cox, 1929 The Hidden Power of Systems Thinking Ray Ison, Ed Straw, 2020-03-05 The Hidden Power of Systems Thinking Governance in a Climate Emergency is a persuasive lively book that shows how systems thinking can be harnessed to effect profound complex change In the age of the Anthropocene the need for new ways of thinking and acting has become urgent But patterns of obstacles are apparent in any action be they corporate interests lobbyists or outdated political and government systems Ison and Straw show how and why failure in governance is at the heart of the collective incapacity to tackle the climate and biodiversity emergencies They go beyond analysis of the problem and demonstrate how incorporating systems thinking into governance at every level would enable us to break free of historical shackles They propose 26 principles for systemic governance This book will be inspiring reading for students applying their systemic methods specialists in change management or public administration activists for whole system change and decision makers wanting to effect challenging transformations It is for anyone with the ambition to create a sustainable and fair world The Spectator ,1855 A weekly review of politics literature theology and art Culturgrams David M.
