

Short Seminar Report

Seminar on Aging in Developing Countries: Building Bridges for Integrated Research Agendas.
Santiago, Chile, 23-24 April 2007

Local Host: Center for Latin American Demography (CELADE)/CEPAL

This seminar was organized by the IUSSP Scientific Panel on Ageing in Developing Countries, the Latin American Demography Center (CELADE), the University of Wisconsin, the Network for Research on Aging in Latin America and the Caribbean (REALCE), and the Network of Researchers on Aging in Developing Countries (University of Michigan), with financial support of the NIA (National Institute on Aging), CELADE and UNFPA.

The purpose of the seminar was to bring together scholars from a variety of countries across the globe to promote discussion on cross-cutting issues of ageing processes, compare alternative study designs for data collection, share information and approaches to key problems, disseminate and encourage the use of existing data sources, and foster the development of new sources capitalizing on past research findings in the developed and developing world. Sessions were organized around common themes, to facilitate discussions and the emergence of new, revised integrated agendas for aging research in the developing world. The themes discussed were: ageing in different regions of the world, health inequalities, life course influences on later life health, health expectancy and use of health services, measures to test theories about health and mortality, intergenerational transfers, intra-family exchanges and residential arrangements, and study designs for cross-national comparability of studies. Approximately 50 participants from developed and developing countries attended the meeting, including demographers, sociologists, economists, epidemiologists, public health specialists, and anthropologists.

Participants presented results based on a variety of population-based studies conducted in Latin America, Africa, Asia and the Middle East, Europe and North America. The discussion revealed that aging is a process that may take different paths in low income countries and that while this leads to complications and the need to adapt old tools to new problems it also represents an advantage since it forces researchers to study specific problems from a different angle. For example, the coexistence of chronic and infectious conditions, a characteristic largely absent from the ecology of disease in high income countries, presents us with new challenges. In light of these peculiarities, advantages and disadvantages of key survey methods and strategies that have been used in existing studies were discussed, such as vignettes, biomarkers, life histories, and self-reported data.

Planning and Organizing Personal and Professional Development Chris Sangster,2017-07-05 Chris Sangster s book is a practical step by step guide to personal and professional development that covers the strategy techniques and philosophy behind the process Lifelong learning the shift from trainer centred delivery to learner centred development and the opportunities provided by new technologies place considerable onus on individuals to take responsibility for their own learning This guide will help trainers and facilitators to enable learners to do just that There are at least three different participants involved in any meaningful and sustainable process of personal development at work the learner his or her line manager and mentor s and the training or development support function Chris Sangster provides a route map for each of these three roles He offers a simple compelling triangular model to illustrate the interaction of each and places particular emphasis on learning outcomes as opposed to inputs focusing attention and objective measurement on learning that manifests itself through application achievement and changes in behaviour Whether you are looking for a complete and Working with Children in Care Pat Petrie, Janet Boddy, Claire Cameron, Valerie Wigfall, Antonia Simon, 2006-11-16. How does residential care in England compare with that of other European countries? What is social pedagogy and how does it help those working with children in care? How can child care policy and practice be improved throughout the United Kingdom? This book is written against the background of the gross social disadvantage suffered by most looked after children in England. It compares European policy and approaches from Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany and the Netherlands to the public care system in England. Drawing on research from all six countries, the authors analyze how different policies and practice can affect young people in residential homes. A particular focus is on the unique approach offered by social pedagogy, a concept that is commonly used in continental Europe. The book compares young people's own experiences and appraisals of living in a residential home and the extent to which residential care compounds social exclusion. Based upon theoretical and empirical evidence, it offers solutions for current dilemmas concerning looked after children in the United Kingdom in terms of lessons learned from policy and practice elsewhere, including training and staffing issues. Working with Children in Care is key reading for students, academics and professionals in health, education and social care who work with children in residential care.
