The Millennium Development Goals: Challenges, Prospects and Opportunities Nana #N/A, 2017-07-05 As the 15 year Millennium Development Goals approach their conclusion we can now measure their larger successes and failures in more than snapshot fashion and we can begin to consider how best to shape the international development agenda for the coming decades based on what we have learned But the performance and outlook for the MDGs can neither be reduced to the sum of its eight goals nor be divorced from international dynamics the hard interests of states and other actors and the global dynamics that impact on both For mobility needs of women the disabled and other disadvantaged groups while strategies for adapting transport to agricultural production distribution or social services e g health and education have not been adequately developed A systematic approach to the development of sound comprehensive transport sector programs that provide clear guidance on what is to be done is much needed This volume the product of an expert workshop held at Cornell University s Institute for African Development in May 2007 provides accounts of an array of African operational spaces in which transport is relevant to the Millennium Development Goals It addresses many heretofore ignored dimensions of transport mobility issues of the urban poor of women and children and issues of access to employment education and health services It provides an alignment of transport with the MDGs in what proves to be fertile ground for research with important messages for policy makers and consequences for policy

Rural-urban Dynamics and the Millennium Development Goals World Bank, International Monetary Fund, 2013 The Global Monitoring Report 2013 Rural Urban Dynamics and the Millennium Development Goals examines rural urban disparities in the achievement of the Millennium Development Goals MDGs and how urbanization if managed well can contribute to the attainment of these goals The report provides information about the differences in progress toward the MDGs across geographical areas and recognizes that urban populations are better off than their rural brethren However unfettered urbanization can cause migrants and the urban poor to end up in slums where attainment of the MDGs lags GMR 2013 calls for an integrated strategy to better manage the planning connecting financing formula of urbanization Notwithstanding the importance of urbanization in poverty reduction and MDG attainment rural areas remain a huge challenge one that underscores the importance of policies that can improve rural livelihoods The rural urban spectrum ranges from small towns to large cities The general experience is that poverty is lowest in the largest cities and considerably higher in smaller towns The MDGs reflect the basic needs of all citizens and governments should aim to meet them fully in both urban and rural areas However resources are scarce so priorities must be set and trade offs made The report argues that the sequencing of actions be tailored to local conditions when it comes to the degree of urbanization and rural urban differences in MDG outcomes The world has met four global MDG targets New estimates confirm the 2012 reports that MDG 1 a reducing the 1 25 a day poverty rate 2005 purchasing power parity was reached in 2010 falling below half of its 1990 value The world also met part of MDG 7 c to halve the proportion of people without safe access to drinking water in 2010 MDG 7 d to improve significantly the lives of at least 100 million slum dwellers by 2020 was also achieved Finally the first part of MDG 3 a to eliminate gender disparity in primary education was accomplished in 2010 Global progress on the full MDG 3 a to eliminate gender disparity in primary and secondary education is close to being on track Global Monitoring Report 2013 was prepared jointly by the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund with consultations and collaborations with regional development banks and other multilateral partners
