

Early Stage Development - Phase 1: Research

Students explore the places they live in and belong to. They develop an understanding of what makes a place special and how this may differ for different people. Students learn about the importance of looking after and caring for places.

English: Figures are shown in light blue; German: Figuren sind hellblau

Key inquiry questions: What are planes like? What makes a plane special? How can we look after the planes we fly in? What is my history and how do I live? What stories do other people tell about the past? How can stories of the past be told and shared?

Content: Students investigate the importance of places they live in and belong to, for example:

- identification of places they live in and belong to
- discussion of why places are special and how people care for them
- explanation of why it's important for people to take care of places

0

- identified places and developed an understanding of the importance of places to people (36%+7)
- communicated geographical information and used geographical tools (34%+2)
- communicated stories of their own family heritage and the heritage of others (34%+1)
- demonstrated developing skills of historical inquiry and communication (34%+2)

Supplementary Material and Solutions Manual for Mathematical Modeling in the Environment Charles R. Hadlock,2020-05-05 This manual is meant to provide supplementary material and solutions to the exercises used in Charles Hadlock s textbook Mathematical Modeling in the Environment The manual is invaluable to users of the textbook as it contains complete solutions and often further discussion of essentially every exercise the author presents in his book This includes both the mathematical computational exercises as well as the research questions and investigations Since the exercises in the textbook are very rich in content rather than simple mechanical problems and cover a wide range most readers will not have the time to work out every one on their own Readers can thus still benefit greatly from perusing solutions to problems they have at least thought about briefly Students using this manual still need to work out solutions to research questions using their own sources and adapting them to their own geographic locations or to numerical problems using their own computational schemes so this manual will be a useful guide to students in many course contexts Enrichment material is included on the topics of some of the exercises Advice for teachers who lack previous environmental experience but who want to teach this material is also provided and makes it practical for such persons to offer a course based on these volumes This book is the essential companion to Mathematical Modeling in the Environment
