Academics Engaging with Student Writing Jackie Tuck, 2017-07-14 Student writing has long been viewed as a problem in higher education in the UK Moreover the sector has consistently performed poorly in the National Student Survey with regard to assessment and feedback Academics Engaging with Student Writing tackles these major issues from a new and unique angle exploring the real life experiences of academic teachers from different institutions as they set support read respond to and assess assignments undertaken by undergraduate students Incorporating evidence from post 1992 universities Oxbridge members of the Russell Group and others this book examines working practices around student writing within the context of an increasingly market oriented mass higher education system Presenting a wealth of relevant examples from disciplines as diverse as History and Sports Science Tuck makes extensive use of interviews observations texts and audio recordings in order to explore the perspectives of academic teachers who work with student writers and their texts This book will be of interest to researchers academics and postgraduate students in the fields of academic literacies higher education language and literacy language in higher education English for academic purposes and assessment Furthermore academic teachers with experience of this crucial aspect of academic labour will welcome Tuck s pioneering work as an indispensable tool for making sense of their own engagement with student writers Journal of Nursing Education ,1989

Teaching Academic Writing Caroline Coffin,Mary Jane Curry,Sharon Goodman,Ann Hewings,Theresa Lillis,Joan Swann,2005-07-26 Student academic writing is at the heart of teaching and learning in higher education Students are assessed largely by what they write and need to learn both general academic conventions as well as disciplinary writing requirements in order to be successful in higher education Teaching Academic Writing is a toolkit designed to help higher education lecturers and tutors teach writing to their students Containing a range of diverse teaching strategies the book offers both practical activities to help students develop their writing abilities and guidelines to help lecturers and tutors think in more depth about the assessment tasks they set and the feedback they give to students The authors explore a wide variety of text types from essays and reflective diaries to research projects and laboratory reports The book draws on recent research in the fields of academic literacy second language learning and linguistics It is grounded in recent developments such as the increasing diversity of the student body the use of the Internet electronic tuition and issues related to distance learning in an era of increasing globalisation Written by experienced teachers of writing language and linguistics Teaching Academic Writing will be of interest to anyone involved in teaching academic writing in higher education Time To Know Them Marilyn S. Sternglass,2017-09-25 In a time of declining resources in institutions of higher education we grapple with how priorities are to be set for the limited resources available Most vulnerable are those students labeled underprepared by colleges and universities Should we argue that the limited resources available ought to be used to support these students through their undergraduate years And if we decide that we want to do that what evidence of their potential for success can we provide that will justify the use of these resources Through longitudinal research that follows students who have been so labeled over all their college years we can begin to find answers to these questions Time to Know Them is the first book that follows the experiences of a group of students over their entire academic experience No previous studies have brought together the factors incorporated in this study examining writing and learning on a true longitudinal basis studying a multicultural urban population investigating the relationship between writing and learning by examining papers written over time for regularly assigned academic courses across a range of disciplines and taking into consideration non academic factors that influence academic performance such as race gender socio economic status and ideological orientation Through interviews twice a semester over six years the collection of papers written for all courses observations of instructional settings and analysis of required institutional tests of writing the author has been able to pull together a more complete picture of writing and intellectual development over the college years than has previously been available in any study Students are seen to acquire the ability to handle more complex reasoning tasks as they find themselves in more challenging intellectual settings and where risk taking and exploration of new ideas are valued The integration of students previous life experiences into their academic studies allows them to analyze critique modify and apply their previously held world views to their new learning These changes are seen to occur over time with instructional settings and support providing key roles in writing development Personal factors in students lives present difficulties that require persistence and dedication to overcome Never before have the complexities of real individual lives as they affect academic performance been so clearly presented

Student Writing in the Quantitative Disciplines Patrick Bahls, 2012-01-19 Designing interesting problems and writing assignments is one of the chief tasks of all teachers but it can be especially challenging to translate and apply learning theory good teaching techniques and writing assignments into STEM and other quantitative disciplines Student Writing in the Quantitative Disciplines offers instructors in math based disciplines meaningful approaches to making their coursework richer and more relevant for their students as well as satisfying institutional imperatives for writing curricula This important resource provides instructors with the hands on skills needed to guide their students in writing well in quantitative courses at all levels of the college curriculum and to promote students general cognitive and intellectual growth Comprehensive in scope the book includes Ideas for using writing as a means of learning mathematical concepts Illustrative examples of effective writing activities and assignments in a number of different genres Assessment criteria and effective strategies for responding to students writing Examples of ways to help students engage in peer review revision and resubmission of their written work Those of us who spend our lives urging faculty in all disciplines to integrate more writing into their courses have wished for the day when someone like Patrick Bahls would step forward with a book like this one

Chris M Anson University Distinguished Professor and director Campus Writing and Speaking Program North Carolina State University Written by a mathematician this readable theoretically sound book describes practical strategies for teachers in the quantitative sciences to assign and respond to students writing It also describes numerous approaches to writing that engage students in disciplinary learning collaborative discovery and effective communication Art Young Campbell Professor of English emeritus Clemson University Loaded with practical advice this timely important and engaging book will be an invaluable resource for instructors wishing to bring the benefits of writing to learn to the quantitative disciplines As a mathematician thoroughly grounded in writing across the curriculum scholarship Bahls brings humor classroom experience and pedagogical savvy to a mission he clearly loves improving the quality of student learning in math and science John C Bean professor Seattle University and author Engaging Ideas

Evaluating Children's Writing Suzanne Bratcher, Linda

Ryan,2003-09-12 Introduces statement from preface about application activities for a wide range of writing evaluation strategies elementary classroom teachers can use to determine a grade Txbk for undergrad graduate elementary language arts writing methods courses The Theory and Practice of Grading Writing Frances Zak,Christopher C.

Weaver,1998-02-05 CHOICE 1998 Outstanding Academic Books Grading is one of the thorniest issues writing teachers must deal with yet surprisingly little has been written on this topic As writing teachers move increasingly toward practices that focus on writing as a process they face a growing need to reconsider their systems of grading to determine whether or not these systems support their pedagogies The authors interrogate the grading of individual papers as well as portfolios and the assigning of end of term grades This collection explores the issues and problems that have emerged as conventional grading practices have lagged behind and been challenged by new theories of language While the book will be of interest to theorists Zak and Weaver have also made the book relevant and useful to teachers whose primary interest is the practical consequences of theory in their classrooms Where theoretical discussion takes place the language is clear and accessible Many of the authors write directly from personal experience telling stories of the classroom or writing of new techniques and approaches they have tried They speak with the voices of teachers and the tone and content of their words convey a sense of the immediacy of the topic Mapping Comprehensive Units to the ELA Common Core Standards, 6-12 Kathy
