Text Paper For Medical Student

Los Angeles University

MBBS after 12th

1. What is the most common cause of heart disease?

The most common cause of heart disease is the buildup of fatty deposits in the walls of arteries, known as atherosclerosis. Atherosclerosis can lead to narrowing or blockages of the coronary arteries that supply blood to the heart muscle, which can result in chest pain (angina), heart attack, or other complications. Other factors that can contribute to heart disease include high blood pressure, smoking, diabetes, obesity, lack of physical activity, and family history of heart disease.

2. What is the difference between a virus and a bacteria?

Bacteria are single-celled organisms that can live in a variety of environments, including soil, water, and the human body. Some bacteria are harmless or even beneficial to humans, while others can cause infections and disease. Bacterial infections can be treated with antibiotics.

Viruses, on the other hand, are not technically living organisms but rather infectious agents that require a host cell to replicate. They are much smaller than bacteria and can only reproduce inside living cells. Viruses can cause a wide range of diseases, from the common cold to more serious illnesses like HIV, influenza, and COVID-19. There are antiviral medications available for some viral infections, but many viral infections do not have specific treatments and must be managed with supportive care. Vaccines are also available for some viral infections to help prevent their spread.

3. What are the three stages of labor?

First stage: This is the longest stage and is characterized by the onset of regular contractions that cause the cervix to efface (thin out) and dilate (open up). This stage is divided into early labor, active labor, and transition. During early labor, contractions are mild and irregular, and the cervix begins to efface and dilate. Active labor is when contractions become stronger, longer, and more frequent, and the cervix dilates more rapidly. During transition, the cervix fully dilates (to 10 centimeters), and contractions become very strong and close together.
