At the first meeting of a group of older adults at a daycare center for the elderly, the nurse asks one of the members what kinds of things she would like to do with the group. The older woman shrugs her shoulders and says, "You tell me, you're the leader." What is the best response for the nurse to make?

A. "Yes, I am the leader today. Would you like to be the leader tomorrow?" B. "Yes, I will be leading this group. What would you like to accomplish during this time?" C. "Yes, I have been assigned to be the leader of this group. I will be here for the next six weeks." D. "Yes, I am the leader. You seem angry about not being the leader yourself."

B. "Yes, I will be leading this group. What would you like to accomplish during this time?"

Anxiety over participation in a group and testing of the leader characteristically occur in the initial phase of group dynamics.

Although (C) provides information, it does not focus the group on its purpose or task.
