the other, might also be a result of the fact that the two studies were not designed to test the same hypotheses. In addition, the results of the two studies are not directly comparable because the two studies used different measures of the dependent variable. The first study used a measure of the dependent variable that was based on the number of correct responses, while the second study used a measure of the dependent variable that was based on the number of correct responses divided by the number of items. The results of the two studies are therefore not directly comparable.
