McDonald,2017-10-11 Some forms of literature interfere with the workings of the literate brain posing a challenge to readers of all kinds including professional literary critics In Artefacts of Writing Peter D McDonald argues they pose as much of a challenge to the way states conceptualise language culture and community Drawing on a wealth of evidence from Victorian scholarly disputes over the identity of the English language to the constitutional debates about its future in Ireland India and South Africa and from the quarrels over the idea of culture within the League of Nations in the interwar years to UNESCO s ongoing struggle to articulate a viable concept of diversity McDonald brings together a large ensemble of legacy writers including T S Eliot

James Joyce and Rabindranath Tagore putting them in dialogue with each other and with the policy makers who shaped the formation of modern states and the history of internationalist thought from the 1860s to the 1940s In the second part of the book he reflects on the continuing evolution of these dialogues showing how a varied array of more contemporary writers from Amit Chaudhuri J M Coetzee and Salman Rushdie to Antjie Krog Arvind Krishna Mehrotra and Esia Mphahlele cast new light on a range of questions concerning education literacy human rights translation indigenous knowledge and cultural diversity that have preoccupied UNESCO since 1945 At once a novel contribution to institutional and intellectual history and an innovative exercise in literary and philosophical analysis Artefacts of Writing affords a unique perspective on literature's place at the centre of some of the most fraught often lethal public controversies that defined the long twentieth century and that continue to haunt us today

Four Future Seasons Craig Wing, 2025-03-01 In an increasingly unpredictable world traditional methods of planning no longer suffice Four Future Seasons offers a groundbreaking approach to navigating uncertainty empowering readers to adapt to the future and actively shape it Drawing from international experiences doctoral research and diverse perspectives as a global expert in futures strategy Craig Wing's Four Future Seasons combines deep insights with practical strategies to anticipate disruptions and thrive in times of change This innovative model draws from diverse and fascinating concepts such as Rumsfeld's unknown unknowns the Johari Window and the timeless wisdom of the Japanese four season garden to offer a dynamic framework for identifying early signals of change and respond with agility More than a guide for business leaders this book is for anyone who wants to create a better future for themselves whether navigating personal growth leadership challenges or unforeseen life changes With personal stories of resilience and innovation woven throughout Four Future Seasons equips readers with the tools foresight and confidence to thrive through all seasons of life

UNESCO science report UNESCO, 2015-11-09 There are fewer grounds today than in the past to deplore a North South divide in research and innovation This is one of the key findings of the UNESCO Science Report towards 2030 A large number of countries are now incorporating science technology and innovation in their national development agenda in order to make their economies less reliant on raw materials and more rooted in knowledge Most research and development R D is taking place in high income countries but innovation of some kind is now occurring across the full spectrum of income levels according to the first survey of manufacturing companies in 65 countries conducted by the UNESCO Institute for Statistics and summarized in this report For many lower income countries sustainable development has become an integral part of their national development plans for the next 10 20 years Among higher income countries a firm commitment to sustainable development is often coupled with the desire to maintain competitiveness in global markets that are increasingly leaning towards green technologies The quest for clean energy and greater energy efficiency now figures among the research priorities of numerous countries Written by more than 50 experts who are each covering the country or region from which they hail the UNESCO Science Report towards 2030 provides more country level information than ever before The trends and developments in science technology and innovation policy and governance between 2009 and mid 2015 described here provide essential baseline information on the concerns and priorities of countries that could orient the implementation and drive the assessment of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development in the years to come

From Student to Urban Planner Tuna Taşan-Kok, Mark Oranje, 2017-12-06 For many young planners the noble intentions with going to planning school seem starkly out of place in the neoliberal worlds they have come to inhabit For some the huge gap between the power they thought they would have and what they actually do is not only worrying but also deeply discouraging But for some others practice means finding practical and creative solutions to overcome challenges and complexities How do young planners in different settings respond to seemingly similar situations like these What do they do give up adjust or fight back What role did their planning education play and could it have helped in preparing and assisting them to respond to the world they are encountering In this edited volume stories of young planners from sixteen countries that engage these questions are presented The sixteen cases range from settings with older established planning systems e g USA the Netherlands and the UK to settings where the system is less set e g Brazil being remodeled e g South Africa and Bosnia Herzegovina and under stress e g Turkey and Poland Each chapter explores what might be done differently to prepare young planners for the complexities and challenges of their real worlds This book not only points out what is absent but also offers planning educators an alternative vision The editors and esteemed contributors provide reflections and suggestions as to how this new generation of young planners can be supported to survive in embrace and change the world they are encountering and in the spirit of planning endeavor to change it for the better Separate Beds Maureen K. Lux, 2016-05-09 Separate Beds is the shocking story of Canada's system of segregated health care Operated by the same bureaucracy that was expanding health care opportunities for most Canadians the Indian Hospitals were underfunded understaffed overcrowded and rife with coercion and medical experimentation Established to keep the Aboriginal tuberculosis population isolated they became a means of ensuring that other Canadians need not share access to modern hospitals with Aboriginal patients Tracing the history of the system from its fragmentary origins to its gradual collapse Maureen K Lux describes the arbitrary and contradictory policies that governed the Indian Hospitals the experiences of patients and staff and the vital grassroots activism that pressed the federal government to acknowledge its treaty obligations A disturbing look at the dark side of the liberal welfare state Separate Beds reveals a history of racism and negligence in health care for Canada's First Nations that should never be forgotten
