The Chester Beatty Biblical Papyri at Ninety Garrick Vernon Allen, Usama Ali Mohamed Gad, Kelsie Gayle Rodenbiker, Anthony Philip Royle, Jill Unkel, 2023-05-08 Despite the significant work carried out on the text transmission materiality and scribal habits preserved in the Chester Beatty Biblical Papyri since their acquisition by Beatty ninety years ago in 1931 these early copies of Jewish scripture and the New Testament have for the most part belonged primarily to textual critics The goal of this book is to resituate this important collection of manuscripts in broader contexts examining their significance in conversation with papyrology as a discipline in the context of other ancient literary traditions preserved on papyri and in discussion with the intellectual and cultural history of collecting colonialism and scholarly rhetoric The Chester Beatty Biblical Papyri and other papyrological collection with which they are inextricably bound remind us of the critical value of examining old manuscripts afresh in their historical scholarly and intellectual contexts These studies are relevant for all scholars who work with manuscripts and ancient texts of any variety Darwin's "Historical Sketch" Curtis N. Johnson, 2020 Curtis Johnson examines Charles Darwin's Historical Sketch creating profiles of the great thinkers writing before and during Darwin's lifetime Reader's Guide to British History David Loades, 2020-12-17 The Reader's Guide to British History is the essential source to secondary material on British history This resource contains over 1 000 A-Z entries on the history of Britain from ancient and Roman Britain to the present day Each entry lists 6-12 of the best known books on the subject then discusses those works in an essay of 800 to 1 000 words prepared by an expert in the field The essays provide advice on the range and depth of coverage as well as the emphasis and point of view espoused in each publication Ælfric's Letter to the Monks of Eynsham Christopher A. Jones, 1999-03-25 Though best known today for his Old English homilies the Anglo Saxon scholar Ælfric also composed a Latin letter to his fellow monks at Eynsham Oxfordshire containing a detailed outline of their daily and seasonal round of prayer and other duties The document offers a rare glimpse of what ordinary monks in Anglo Saxon England were expected to know and do This 1999 book contains an edition of the Latin letters a textual commentary and a complete English translation of the work Dr Jones also provides substantial introductory chapters which establish the exceptional importance of the Eynsham letter for our understanding of late Anglo Saxon monasticism and liturgy The book will interest students of early medieval culture monasticism and Church history Abstractions of Evidence in the Study of Manuscripts and Early Printed Books Joseph A. Dane, 2016-12-05 In this book Joseph Dane critiques the use of material evidence in studies of manuscript and printed books by delving into accepted notions about the study of print culture He questions the institutional and ideological presuppositions that govern medieval studies descriptive bibliography and library science Dane begins by asking what is the relation between material evidence and the abstract statements made about the evidence ultimately he asks how evidence is to be defined The goal of this book is to show that evidence from texts and written objects often becomes twisted to support pre-existing arguments and that generations of bibliographers have created narratives of authorship printing reading and editing that reflect romantic notions of identity growth and development The first part of the book is dedicated to medieval texts and authorship materials include Everyman Chaucer's Legend of Good Women the Anglo Norman Le Seint Resurrection and Adam de la Helle's Le Jeu de Robin et Marion The second half of the book is concerned with abstract notions about books and scholarly definitions about what a book actually is chapters include studies of basic bibliographical concepts Ideal Copy and the application of such a notion in early editions of Chaucer the combination of manuscript and printing in the books of Colard Mansion and finally examples of the organization of books by an early nineteenth century book collector Leander Van Ess This study is an important contribution to debates about the nature of bibliography and the critical institutions that have shaped its current practice printing and editing history They cross traditional boundaries of subject and period taking multi disciplinary approaches to their studies in order to underscore the shifting historical social and political contexts in which medieval English chronicles were used and read from the fourteenth century through to the present day As such the volume honours the pioneering work of the late Professor Lister M Matheson whose research in this area demonstrated that a full understanding of medieval historical literature demands attention to both the content of the works in question and to the material circumstances of producing those works JACLYN RAJSIC is a Lecturer in Medieval Literature in the School of English and Drama at Queen Mary University of London ERIK KOOPER taught Old and Middle English at Utrecht University until his retirement in 2007 DOMINIQUE HOCHÉ Is an Associate Professor at West Liberty University in West Virginia Contributors Elizabeth J Bryan Caroline D Eckhardt A S G Edwards Dan Embree Alexander L Kaufman Edward Donald Kennedy Erik Kooper Julia Marvin William Marx Krista A Murchison Heather Pagan Jaclyn Rajsic Christine M Rose Neil Weijer

In Pursuit of Meaning Baruch A. Levine, 2011-06-23 In a career spanning almost five decades Baruch Levine's numerous publications reflect his wide ranging interests and areas of expertise in the study of the Hebrew Bible the ancient Near East and early Judaism In Pursuit of Meaning brings together 51 of the most important articles that Professor Levine produced during his years at Brandeis University 1962-69 and New York University 1969-2000 emeritus 2000 The first volume containing 27 articles focuses on the study of religion in the biblical and ancient Near Eastern worlds from a number of perspectives ranging from close philological analysis of written sources to anthropological studies of ancient cultic practices In the 24 articles of the second volume Levine engages broader aspects of ancient Near Eastern society from legal institutions of various types to larger societal forms of organization This volume also contains some of his more incisive lexicographical and philological contributions to the study of the Hebrew and Aramaic languages The flavor of Prof Levine's work is captured in this paragraph from his introduction to these two volumes Looking back and reviewing my writings I realize what it is that I have been seeking all along I have been in pursuit of meaning employing scholarly methods primarily philology and semantics to the exegesis of ancient Near Eastern texts preserved in several languages principally the Hebrew Bible I regard language as the key to meaning This conclusion would appear to be self evident and yet philology is often sidelined in favor of engaging larger frameworks Most of all I challenge the notion that we already know the meaning of the words and clauses central to the texts under investigation and may proceed directly to other considerations without first re examining the smaller units Again and again that policy has resulted in flawed interpretation and in missed opportunities for learning This is not to say that scholars should stop at the smaller units and indeed the tendency to do so has been largely responsible for the reaction against Semitic philology so noticeable since the latter part of the 20th century It is our challenge to move outward from focal points to the circumference from text to context from content to structure
