| 1. What types of things can prevent us from making the gospel a priority in our lives?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | While wholesome movies or books may be good, they can distract us from making the gospel a priority. Education is important, but if it becomes our sole focus, we risk losing sight of what is truly essential is the message of Jesus Christ (The Gospel)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 2. Elder Oaks quoted President Hinckley saying "I ask you men, particularly, to pause and take stock of yourselves as husbands and fathers and heads of households. Pray for guidance, for help, for direction, and then follow the whisperings of the Spirit to guide you in the most serious of all responsibilities, for the consequences of your leadership in your home will be eternal and everlasting." What are some of the consequences (good or bad) that President Oaks mentioned? | President Oaks highlighted some negative consequences of neglecting our families, such as working too much and not having enough time for each other. When our leadership in the home is weak and we don't prioritize spending time with our children, it can have a lasting impact on them. On the other hand, he also mentioned the positive outcomes of making time for our families, such as having dinner together, teaching gospel principles, and showing constant love to our children. Strong leadership in the home is crucial, and by doing so, we can instill in our children a love for our Savior and help shape them into the best versions of themselves. |
| 3. What is an insight you gained from the talk and how can you apply it to your life?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | I really enjoyed the tip that President Oaks provided us when teaching Joseph Smith. He said the best thing a teacher can do when teaching Joseph Smith is using a quote from the prophets on principle that fits the class and directs a discussion that can lead to deeper understanding and meaning to apply to our daily life.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
