

RETELLING A STORY

Retelling is different from summarizing.
When you retell a story, you tell the whole story again
using as many details as possible.

CHARACTERS

Who are the people or animals in the story?

SETTING

When and where did
the story
happen?

PROBLEM

What went wrong in the story?

EVENTS

What happened
in the beginning,
middle, and end
of the story?

SOLUTION

How
was the problem
fixed?

LESSON

What lesson
can be learned from
the story?

Life Storying in Oral History Jarmila Mildorf,2023-06-06 This book proposes the concept of fictional contamination to capture the fact that fictionalization and literary complexity can be found across different kinds of narrative Exploring conversational storytelling in oral history and other interviews from socionarratological perspectives the book systematically discusses key narrative features such as story templates dialogue double deixis focalization or perspective taking and mind representation as well as special narrative forms including second person narration and narratives of vicarious experience These features and forms attest to storytellers linguistic creativity and serve the function of involving listeners by making stories more interesting Shared by fictional and conversational narratives at a basic level they can bring conversational stories closer to fiction and potentially compromise their credibility if used extensively Detailed analyses of broad ranging examples are undertaken against a rich narrative theoretical background drawn from the fields of narratology linguistics oral history life storytelling psychology and philosophy The book is of interest to scholars and students working in these fields and anyone fascinated by the richness of conversational storytelling

The Era of Transitional Justice Paul Gready, 2010-10-18 The Era of Transitional Justice explores a broad set of issues raised by political transition and transitional justice through the prism of the South African TRC South Africa constitutes a powerful case study of the enduring structural legacies of a troubled past and of both the potential and limitations of transitional justice and human rights as agents of transformation in the contemporary era South Africa's story has wider relevance because it helped to launch constitutional human rights and transitional justice as global discourses as such its own legacy is to some extent writ large in post authoritarian and post conflict contexts across the world Based on a decade of research and in an analysis that is both comparative and interdisciplinary Paul Gready maintains that transitional justice needs to do more to address structural violence and in particular poverty inequality and social and criminal violence as these have emerged as stubborn legacies from an oppressive or war torn past in many parts of the world Organised around four central themes new keyword conceptualisation truth justice reconciliation re imagining human rights engaging with the past and present remaking the public sphere it is an argument that will be of considerable relevance to those interested in the law and politics of transitional societies

Alexander the Great in the Early Christian Tradition Christian Thruw Djurslev, 2019-12-12 What has Alexander the Great to do with Jesus Christ Or the legendary king's conquest of the Persian Empire 335-23 BCE to do with the prophecies of the Old Testament In many ways the early Christian writings on Alexander and his legacy provide a lens through which it is possible to view the shaping of the literature and thought of the early church in the Greek East and the Latin West This book articulates that fascinating discourse for the first time by focusing on the early Christian use of Alexander Delving into an impressively deep pool of patristic literature written between 130-313 CE Christian Thruw Djurslev offers original interpretations of various important authors from the learned lawyer Tertullian to the Christian Cicero Lactantius and from the apologist Tatian to the first church historian Eusebius He demonstrates that the early Christian adaptations of the Alexandrian myths created a new tradition that has continued to develop and expand ever since This innovative work of reception studies is important reading for all scholars of Alexander the Great and early church history

Retelling Scripture Ruth Sheridan, 2012-01-06 The last century of scholarship on the Old Testament citations in the Gospel of John has concentrated almost exclusively upon source critical or redaction critical issues with the aim of determining the Christological import of the citations The current book brings a narrative rhetorical methodology to bear upon the seven explicit Scriptural citations in the Gospel's Book of Signs 1:19-12:50 that are prefaced by a distinct introductory formula 1:19

12 15 These citations are each addressed to or imply a particular textual audience namely the Jews This book argues that as such the citations do not merely have Christological significance but function at the narrative level to encourage an ideal reader to construct a particularly negative characterization of the Jews
