Literary Cartographies Robert T. Tally Jr., 2016-04-30 Exploring narrative mapping in a wide range of literary works ranging from medieval romance to postmodern science fiction this volume argues for the significance of spatiality in comparative literary studies Contributors demonstrate how a variety of narratives represent the changing social spaces of their world Translocality in Contemporary City Novels Lena Mattheis, 2021-03-19 Translocality in Contemporary City Novels responds to the fact that twenty first century Anglophone novels are increasingly characterised by translocality the layering and blending of two or more distant settings Considering translocal and transcultural writing as a global phenomenon this book draws on multidisciplinary research from globalisation theory to the study of narratives to urban studies to explore a corpus of thirty two novels by authors such as Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie Dionne Brand Kiran Desai and Xiaolu Guo set in a total of ninety seven cities Lena Mattheis examines six of the most common strategies used in contemporary urban fiction to make translocal experiences of the world narratable and turn them into relatable stories simultaneity palimpsests mapping scaling non places and haunting Combining and developing further theories approaches and techniques from a variety of research fields including narratology human geography transculturality diaspora spaces and postcolonial perspectives Mattheis develops a set of cross disciplinary techniques in literary urban studies

Archaeologies of African American Life in the Upper Mid-Atlantic Michael J. Gall, Richard F. Veit, 2017-10-17 New scholarship provides insights into the archaeology and cultural history of African American life from a collection of sites in the Mid Atlantic

Colonialism in Global Perspective Kris Manjapra, 2020-05-07 Kris Manjapra weaves together the study of colonialism over the past 500 years across the globe's continents and seas This captivating work vividly evokes living human histories introducing the reader to manifestations of colonialism as expressed through war militarization extractive economies migrations and diasporas racialization biopolitical management and unruly and creative responses and resistances by colonized peoples This book describes some of the most salient political social and cultural constellations of our present times across the Americas Africa Asia and Europe By exploring the dissimilar yet entwined histories of conquest settler colonialism racial slavery and empire Manjapra exposes the enduring role of colonial force and freedom struggle in the making of our modern world

The Disney Middle Ages T. Pugh, S. Aronstein, 2012-12-10 For many the middle ages depicted in Walt Disney movies have come to figure as the middle ages forming the earliest visions of the medieval past for much of the contemporary Western and increasingly Eastern imagination The essayists of The Disney Middle Ages explore Disney's mediation and re creation of a fairy tale and fantasy past not to lament its exploitation of the middle ages for corporate ends but to examine how and why these medieval visions prove so readily adaptable to themed entertainments many centuries after their creation What results is a scrupulous and comprehensive examination of the intersection between the products of the Disney Corporation and popular culture's fascination with the middle ages

Un-Mapping the Global South Gero Bauer, Nicole Hirschfelder, Fernando Resende, 2024-03-19 This book offers new approaches and insights into the ongoing and topical discussions on the concepts and definitions of the global south Instead of adding to the debates about how to properly define the global south as such it aims at emphasising concrete experiences and accounts of post colonial dislocation and disidentification as both a starting point and linchpin for the subsequent exploration It brings into conversation theories and interrogations of the global south with specific local studies without presenting them as the romanticised other or as non western narratives As a bold initiation of future conversations on issues that both directly and indirectly affect ideas about the global south the volume will be of great interest to scholars and researchers of critical theory literary and cultural studies and global south studies

Mapping Beyond Measure Simon Ferdinand, 2019-12-01 Over the last century a growing number of visual artists have been captivated by the entwinements of beauty and power truth and artifice and the fantasy and functionality they perceive in geographical mapmaking This field of map art has moved into increasing prominence in recent years yet critical writing on the topic has been largely confined to general overviews of the field In Mapping Beyond Measure Simon Ferdinand analyzes diverse map based works of painting collage film walking performance and digital drawing made in Britain Japan the Netherlands Ukraine the United States and the former Soviet Union arguing that together they challenge the dominant modern view of the world as a measurable and malleable geometrical space This challenge has strong political ramifications for it is on the basis of modernity's geometrical worldview that states have legislated over social space that capital has coordinated global markets and exploited distant environments and that powerful cartographic institutions have claimed exclusive authority in mapmaking Mapping Beyond Measure breaks fresh ground in undertaking a series of close readings of significant map artworks in sustained dialogue with spatial theorists including Peter Sloterdijk Zygmunt Bauman and Michel de Certeau In so doing Ferdinand reveals how map art calls into question some of the central myths and narratives of rupture through which modern space has traditionally been imagined and establishes map art's distinct value amid broader contemporary shifts toward digital mapping

The Eye of War

Antoine Bousquet, 2018-10-09 How perceptual technologies have shaped the history of war from the Renaissance to the present From ubiquitous surveillance to drone strikes that put warheads onto foreheads we live in a world of globalized individualized targeting The perils are great In The Eye of War Antoine Bousquet provides both a sweeping historical overview of military perception technologies and a disquieting lens on a world that is increasingly one in which anything or anyone that can be perceived can be destroyed in which to see is to destroy Arguing that modern day global targeting is dissolving the conventionally bounded spaces of armed conflict Bousquet shows that over several centuries a logistical order of militarized perception has come into ascendancy bringing perception and annihilation into ever closer alignment The efforts deployed to evade this deadly visibility have correspondingly intensified yielding practices of radical concealment that presage a wholesale disappearance of the customary space of the battlefield Beginning with the Renaissance's fateful discovery of linear perspective The Eye of War discloses the entanglement of the sciences and techniques of perception representation and localization in the modern era amid the perpetual quest for military superiority In a survey that ranges from the telescope aerial photograph and gridded map to radar digital imaging and the geographic information system Bousquet shows how successive technological systems have profoundly shaped the history of warfare and the experience of soldiering A work of grand historical sweep and remarkable analytical power The Eye of War explores the implications of militarized perception for the character of war in the twenty first century and the place of human subjects within its increasingly technical armature

Dislocating the Orient Daniel Foliard, 2017-04-13 While the twentieth century's conflicting visions and exploitation of the Middle East are well documented the origins of the concept of the Middle East itself have been largely ignored With Dislocating the Orient Daniel Foliard tells the story of how the land was brought into being exploring how maps knowledge and blind ignorance all participated in the construction of this imagined region Foliard vividly illustrates how the British first defined the Middle East as a geopolitical and cartographic region in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries through their imperial maps. Until then the region had never been clearly distinguished from the East or the Orient. In the course of their colonial activities however the British began to conceive of the Middle East as a separate and distinct part of the world with consequences that continue to be felt today. As they reimagined boundaries the British produced disputed and finally dramatically transformed the geography of the area both culturally and physically over the course of their colonial era. Using a wide variety of primary texts and historical maps to show how the idea of the Middle East came into being, Dislocating the Orient will interest historians of the Middle East, the British empire, cultural geography and cartography.

Research-Based Art Practices in Southeast Asia Caroline Ha Thuc, 2022-10-05 This book is the first overall study of research based art practices in Southeast Asia. Its objective is to examine the creative and mutual entanglement of academic and artistic research in short the Why, When, What and How of research based art practices in the region. In Southeast Asia artists are increasingly engaged in research based art practices involving academic research processes. They work as historians, archivists, archaeologists or sociologists in order to produce knowledge and/or to challenge the current established systems of knowledge production. As artists they can freely draw on academic research methodologies and at the same time question or divert them for their own artistic purpose. The outcome of their research findings is exhibited as an artwork and is not published or presented in an academic format. This book seeks to demonstrate the emancipatory dimension of these practices which contribute to opening up our conceptions of knowledge and of art, bestowing a new and promising role to the artists within the society.

Reinterpreting Exploration Dane Kennedy, 2014 Exploration was a central and perhaps defining aspect of the West's encounters with other peoples and lands. Rather than reproduce celebratory narratives of individual heroism and national glory, this volume focuses on exploration's instrumental role in shaping a European sense of exceptionalism and its iconic importance in defining the terms of cultural engagement with other peoples. In chapters offering a broad geographic range, the contributors address many of the key themes of recent research on exploration, including exploration's contribution to European imperial expansion, Western scientific knowledge, Enlightenment ideas and practices and metropolitan print culture. They reassess indigenous peoples' responses upon first contacts with European explorers, their involvement as intermediaries in the operations of expeditions and the complications that their prior knowledge posed for European claims of discovery. Underscoring that exploration must be seen as a process of mediation between representation and reality, this book provides a fresh and accessible introduction to the ongoing reinterpretation of exploration's role in the making of the modern world.

Making Deep Maps David J. Bodenhamer, John Corrigan, Trevor M. Harris, 2021-09-28 This book explores how we create deep maps, delving into the development of methods and approaches that move beyond standard two-dimensional cartography. Deep mapping offers a more detailed exploration of the world we inhabit. Moving from concept to practice, this book addresses how we make deep maps It explores what methods are available what technologies and approaches are favorable when designing deep maps and what lessons assist the practitioner during their construction This book aims to create an open ended way in which to understand complex problems through multiple perspectives while providing a means to represent the physical properties of the real world and to respond to the needs of contemporary scholarship With contributions from leading experts in the spatial humanities chapters focus on the linked layers of quantitative and qualitative data maps photographs images and sound that offer a dynamic view of past and present worlds This innovative book is the first to offer these insights on the construction of deep maps It will be a key point of reference for students and scholars in the digital and spatial humanities geographers cartographers and computer scientists who work on spatiality sensory experience and perceptual learning

Uncertain Climes Joseph Giacomelli, 2023-04-05 Drawing on the writings of scientists foresters surveyors and settlers Joseph Giacomelli shows that climate uncertainty infused Gilded Age thinking about economic growth and national development He details a multivalent discourse on climate that infused both practical concerns and overarching political themes not least Manifest Destiny Giacomelli makes it clear that uncertainty drew together concerns about human induced climate change and cultural worries about the sustainability of capitalist expansionism A rising belief in scientific positivism was matched by a growing awareness of the illusory nature of scientific certainty faith in society's power to improve landscapes tussled with persistent fears of environmental catastrophe

Land, Indigenous Peoples and Conflict Alan C. Tidwell, Barry Scott Zellen, 2015-10-05 Land Indigenous Peoples and Conflict presents an original comparative study of indigenous land and property rights worldwide The book explores how the ongoing constitutional legal and political integration of indigenous peoples into contemporary society has impacted on indigenous institutions and structures for managing land and property This book details some of the common problems experienced by indigenous peoples throughout the world providing lessons and insights from conflict resolution that may find application in other conflicts including inter state and civil and sectarian conflicts An interdisciplinary group of contributors present specific case material from indigenous land conflicts from the South Pacific Australasia South East Asia Africa North and South America and northern Eurasia These regional cases discuss issues such as modernization the evolution of systems and institutions regulating land use access and management and the resolution of indigenous land conflicts drawing out common problems and solutions The lessons learnt from the book will be of value to students researchers legal professionals and policy makers with an interest in land and property rights worldwide
