and Employment Anita Grace, 2021-12-23 Women Reentry and Employment Criminalized and Employable explores the conflicting discourses about employment for women who are exiting prison. It empirically outlines the landscape of employability supports available to reentering women, the steps to employment women are directed to follow, and the barriers to employment they face. Theoretically, it explores the subject positions of criminalized and employable women. This book offers a contemporary contribution to the scholarship of the past three decades that has queried, monitored, and challenged practices and policies relating to women's corrections in Canada. Based on data gathered about community-based employment supports available to reentering women in Ontario, Canada, it explores how language constructs the subject positions of criminalized and employable women and brings into conversation the extensive body of work about women's employment and employability and reintegration. The book marks a unique but important intersection of these empirical and theoretical domains. Central to the book is the juxtaposition of two key subject positions mobilized in women's corrections. One is that of the criminalized woman, a subject whose experiences of trauma and marginalization have rendered her emotionally and mentally broken; she is constrained by her past and incapable of acting towards her future. The other subject position is that of the employable woman, who is future-oriented, confident, and responsible for her own socio-economic inclusion. How do reentering women experience, inhabit, and resist these incompatible subject positions? Challenging the invisibilization of women's experiences in the criminal justice system, Women Reentry and Employment will be of great interest to students and scholars of Criminology, Penology, and Women's Studies.

Migration, Recognition and Critical Theory Gottfried Schweiger, 2021-07-07 This book brings together philosophical, social, theoretical, and empirically oriented contributions on the philosophical and socio-theoretical debate on migration and integration using the instruments of recognition as a normative and social scientific category. Furthermore, the theoretical and practical implications of recognition theory are reflected through the case of migration. Migration movements, refugees, and the associated tensions are phenomena that have become the focus of scientific, political, and public debate in recent years. Migrants, in particular, refugees, face many injustices and are especially vulnerable, but the right-wing political discourse presents them as threats to social order and stability. This book shows what a critical theory of recognition can contribute to the debate. The book is suitable for researchers in philosophy, social theory, and migration research. A profound examination of how states and societies struggle to recognize migrants as fellow human beings in all their fullness. The contributions are exceptional for combining astute philosophy and social theory with a discussion of actual politics and real lives. Dr. Hugo Slim, Senior Research Fellow at the Blavatnik School of Government, University of Oxford, and formerly Head of Policy at the International Committee of the Red Cross. This impressive and timely volume offers an innovative way of understanding the issues of migration and integration by using a critical theory of recognition. Recognition theory has rich potential for effectively responding to the issues of autonomy, identity, integration, and empowerment that are at the core of the current public debates on mass migration displacement and the refugee crisis By examining the normative and policy implications of recognition as they apply to migration the book offers a pathbreaking look at the human dimension of the debate Dr Helle Porsdam Professor of Law and Humanities and UNESCO Chair in Cultural Rights University of Copenhagen Consent and Control in the Authoritarian Workplace Martin Krzywdzinski, 2018-01-26 Today a large proportion of the world's states are under authoritarian governments These countries limit participation rights both in the political sphere and in the workplace At the same time they have to generate consent in the workplace in order to ensure social stability and prevent the escalation of conflicts But how do companies generate consent given that employee voice and interest representation may be limited or entirely absent Based on a review of research literature from sociology organizational psychology and behavioural economics this book develops a theory of consent generation and distinguishes three groups of consent producing mechanisms socialization incentive mechanisms and participation and interest representation It presents an empirical analysis of how these mechanisms work in Russian and Chinese automotive factories and shows how socio cultural factors and labour regulation explain the differences between both countries regarding consent and control in the workplace The book contributes to two research debates First it examines the generation of consent in the workplace a core topic of the sociology of work and organization Its particular focus is on consent generation in authoritarian societies Secondly the book contributes to the debate about the reasons for the completely different trajectories of post communist Russia and China The book provides an empirical analysis that explains the different work behaviours of employees in both countries and links the micro level of the workplace and the macro level of institutions and organizational cultures Assessing Satisfaction in Health and Long Term Care Robert Applebaum, MSW, PhD, Jane Straker, PhD, Scott Geron, PhD, 1999-12-29 Drawing from their own research the authors have created a book that answers the much asked questions about how to assess the satisfaction of health and long term care recipients successfully Designed to be practical in its application the book includes many examples of questions and approaches used to assess consumer satisfaction Part 1 provides an overview in which the authors discuss theories approaches to measuring consumer satisfaction and how to implement a consumer data collection strategy Part II focuses on a broad range of specific areas or settings for assessment including in home care nursing homes and assisted living This concise book is must reading for practitioners researchers and students committed to listening to the voices of their clients and improving the delivery of care The Social Work Interview Alfred Kadushin, Goldie Kadushin, 1997-03-04 For twenty five years The Social Work Interview has been the textbook of choice in social work and other human service courses as well as an essential professional resource for practitioners This new edition the first in seven years is thoroughly updated revised expanded and reorganized for more thorough coverage and for more effective teaching and learning New to this edition Thoroughly reorganized chapters and sections for greater coherence and clarity More extensive literature review Greater emphasis on the process of communication and its role in interviewing New or greatly
