Nursing Homes Explained Delia Marie Franklin,2013 This book will help readers understand more about gerontological nursing how the different nursing specialties interact and the necessity for multidisciplinary team approaches to improve systems in the industry The book also highlights some of the many individuals who have contributed to reaching for higher care levels in nursing homes Innovative processes such as the Eden Alternative and the Quality Indicator Survey process are introduced which will assist people to understand the wide range of ways in which the system can be improved As the author emphasizes throughout the book the psychology of kindness is essential and needs to be demonstrated by everyone in the gerontological field from care providers to families and patients Emotions can run high as patients and families may be frightened confused and concerned about making good decisions while the care providers are themselves working hard to provide appropriate care while coping with multiple demands Consideration and humor are in fact most important for creating a positive atmosphere for those in nursing homes

Music, Brain, and Rehabilitation: Emerging Therapeutic Applications and Potential Neural Mechanisms Teppo Särkämö, Eckart Altenmüller, Antoni Rodríguez-Fornells, Isabelle Peretz, 2016-08-05 Music is an important source of enjoyment learning and well being in life as well as a rich powerful and versatile stimulus for the brain With the advance of modern neuroimaging techniques during the past decades we are now beginning to understand better what goes on in the healthy brain when we hear play think and feel music and how the structure and function of the brain can change as a result of musical training and expertise For more than a century music has also been studied in the field of neurology where the focus has mostly been on musical deficits and symptoms caused by neurological illness e g amusia musicogenic epilepsy or on occupational diseases of professional musicians e g focal dystonia hearing loss Recently however there has been increasing interest and progress also in adopting music as a therapeutic tool in neurological rehabilitation and many novel music based rehabilitation methods have been developed to facilitate motor cognitive emotional and social functioning of infants children and adults suffering from a debilitating neurological illness or disorder Traditionally the fields of music neuroscience and music therapy have progressed rather independently but they are now beginning to integrate and merge in clinical neurology providing novel and important information about how music is processed in the damaged or abnormal brain how structural and functional recovery of the brain can be enhanced by music based rehabilitation methods and what neural mechanisms underlie the therapeutic effects of music Ideally this information can be used to better understand how and why music works in rehabilitation and to develop more effective music based applications that can be targeted and tailored towards individual rehabilitation needs The aim of this Research Topic is to bring together research across multiple disciplines with a special focus on music brain and neurological rehabilitation We encourage researchers working in the field to submit a paper presenting either original empirical research novel theoretical or conceptual perspectives a review or methodological advances related to following two core topics 1 how are musical skills and attributes e g perceiving music experiencing music emotionally playing or singing affected by a developmental or acquired neurological illness or disorder for example stroke aphasia brain injury Alzheimer s disease Parkinson s disease autism ADHD dyslexia focal dystonia or tinnitus and 2 what is the applicability effectiveness and mechanisms of music based rehabilitation methods for persons with a neurological illness or disorder Research methodology can include behavioural physiological and or neuroimaging techniques and studies can be either clinical group studies or case studies studies of healthy subjects are applicable only if their findings have clear clinical implications Nursing Homes ,2004 Problem-oriented Medical Record

Justice as a Basic Human Need Antony James William Taylor,2006 Psychologists in different tributaries of the discipline have long been preoccupied with aspects of Justice but none previously has addressed the essential question raised in this book namely of justice being as vital to the essentials of life and to the flowering of the human spirit as other basic needs The same can be said for academics and practitioners in other disciplines in social science as well as those in mental health and psychiatry Although lawyers might come close to accepting the proposition it seems to me that in the main their professional expertise is directed to the superficial maintenance of systems of justice rather than to the underlying reasons for doing so

This book arising from academic clinical empirical and theoretical studies goes the further mile by giving justice its proper place in the hierarchy of basic human needs It is designed in accord with a general systems theory in which contributions are welcomed from international scholars and researchers in different domains of knowledge Above all it is written in the hope of inducing others to share a commitment to justice and do their utmost to prevent injustice
