Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and energy expenditure (EE) of sedentary, middle-aged women. The subjects were 15 women, 40 to 50 years of age, who were sedentary and had no cardiovascular or pulmonary disease. The subjects were randomly assigned to a 10-week training program or a control group. The training program consisted of three sessions per week of aerobic exercise at 60% of maximum HR. The control group did not exercise. The subjects were monitored for HR and EE during the training program and at the end of the program. The results showed that the training program had a significant effect on HR and EE. The HR of the training group decreased significantly from 170 to 155 beats per minute (p < 0.05). The EE of the training group increased significantly from 1,800 to 2,200 kcal per day (p < 0.05). The control group did not show any significant changes in HR or EE. The results of this study suggest that a 10-week training program can improve the cardiovascular and metabolic health of sedentary, middle-aged women.

- Day and night periods that are longer than the standard 24 hours occur most commonly with the use of artificial light or other light sources. To avoid this, there are two things the producer should do:
 - 1) Turn off the lights at the end of the day.
 - 2) Avoid excessive light intensity, the length of the day and the light spectrum (the color of the light) are important.
- The end of the day is the best time to change the light spectrum. The producer should be looking for the light spectrum to be most similar to the spectrum of the sun at the end of the day. The spectrum of the sun is most similar to the spectrum of the sun at the end of the day.
