A K-pop Live Suk-Young Kim, 2023-05-25 A glittering glimpse into a pure realization of late capitalism and our collective future uncovers why K pop is the global cultural phenomenon Carol Vernallis author of Unruly Media YouTube Music Video and the New Digital Cinema 1990s South Korea saw the transition from a military dictatorship to a civilian government from a manufacturing economy to a postindustrial hub and from a cloistered society to a more dynamic transnational juncture In K pop Live Suk Young Kim investigates the ascent of Korean popular music in relation to the rise of personal technology and social media Based on in depth interviews with K pop industry personnel media experts critics and fans as well as archival research K pop Live explores how the industry has managed the tough sell of live music in a marketplace in which virtually everything is available online Teasing out digital media's courtship of liveness in the production and consumption of K pop Kim investigates the nuances of the affective mode in which human subjects interact with one another in the digital age Observing performances online in concert and even through the use of holographic performers Kim offers readers a step by step guide through the K pop industry's variegated efforts to diversify media platforms as a way of reaching a wider global network of music consumers. In an era when digital technology inserts itself into nearly all social relationships, Kim reveals how what is live becomes a question of how we exist as increasingly mediated subjects. Lively insights into the complexities of the artistry and the commerce, the manufactured and the impromptu, the virtual and the somatic, and the local and the global that propel the production and consumption of Korean popular music today. Hyung Gu Lynn, University of British Columbia

Fake Stuff Yi-Chieh Jessica Lin, 2011-03-29 The Anthropology of Stuff is part of a new Series dedicated to innovative unconventional ways to connect undergraduate students and their lived concerns about our social world to the power of social science ideas and evidence. Our goal with the project is to help spark social science imaginations and in doing so new avenues for meaningful thought and action. Each Stuff title is a short 100 page mini text illuminating for students the network of people and activities that create their material world. Yi Chieh Lin reveals how the entrepreneurial energy of emerging markets such as China includes the opportunity to profit from fake stuff that is counterfeit goods that rely on our fascination with brand names. Students will discover how the names and logos embroidered and printed on their own clothes carry their own price tag above and beyond the use value of the products themselves. The book provides a wonderful introduction for students to global markets and their role in determining how they function. Identity Constructions in Bilingual Advertising

Songqing Li, 2018-09-03 This is the first book length study of identity constructions in relation to English as a contact language in advertising of non English speaking countries through a critical and interpretive lens. Instead of simply presuming the role of the English language may have in constructing identities within the multimodal advertisement, this book aims to explore ethnographically the ideological underpinnings of identity constructions in the context of local politics of English. It studies the varying degrees of the contribution of the English language and its possible roles in bilingual advertising, unravels the ideological dimensions of the language as well as identity and explains the sociocultural forms and meanings of identity. To this end, it develops a new critical cognitive approach bringing together recent advances in English as a global language, critical sociolinguistics, multilingual studies and multimodal discourse analysis. By delving into the cognitive process of identity constructions, it provides an evidence based account of the roles of English and it illustrates the interconnections between identities and local politics of English. This interdisciplinary book will be of interest to scholars and students in bilingualism, multilingualism, discourse analysis, English as a global language, multimodality, advertising and marketing. Mobile Media in the Asia-Pacific

Larissa Hjorth, 2008-10-13 This century has been marked by the rapid and divergent uptake of mobile telephony throughout the world. The mobile phone has become a poignant symbol for postmodernity and the attendant modes of global mobility and immobility. Most notably, the icon of the mobile phone is most palpable in the Asia Pacific in which a diversity of innovation and consumer practices reflecting gender and locality can be found. Through the lens of gendered mobile media, Mobile Media in the Asia Pacific provides insight into this phenomenon by focusing on case studies in Japan South Korea China and Australia Despite the ubiquity and multi layered nature of mobile media in the region the patterns of female consumption have received little attention in the growing literature on mobile communication globally Utilising ethnographic research conducted in the Asia Pacific over a six year period this book investigates the relationship between gender technology and various forms of mobility and immobility in the region This book outlines the emerging modes of gender performativity that makes the Asia Pacific region so distinct to other regions globally Mobile Media in the Asia Pacific is a fascinating read for students and scholars interested in new media and gender in the Asia Pacific region The Asia-Pacific Internet Handbook Madanmohan Rao,2002 Contributed articles with special reference to Japan China Korea India Singapore and Australia Episode IV is just a fancy no and not a multipart item
