Targeted Teaching Tremain Baker, Gareth Evers, Richard Brock, 2017-02-09

There is no single best approach in teaching

This new text challenges the idea that there is a best way to teach

Instead the authors explain a more pragmatic approach is required

Teachers need a range of skills and strategies to select from work with and adapt

Every school cohort class and child is different

Beyond that strategies that worked well with a class one week may prove ineffective the next

This book presents a range of strategies well grounded in research for trainees and beginning teachers to use in their own classroom settings and contexts

presents a model of teaching that views teaching not as a profession in which there is always a single correct answer but as a complex interaction between teacher and students addresses common issues that beginning teachers face when developing their practice

If you are a teacher wanting to find out what works best for your class in your school right now this text will show you how to harness the power of small or large scale research to help you find the answer

Education Policy, Practice and the Professional Jane Bates, Sue Lewis, Andy Pickard, 2011-03-31

This introductory textbook explores education policy looking at where we came from where we are and where we are going

In this introduction to educational policy practice and the professional the authors focus first on historical policy from the state's first interventions in education through to Thatcherism and Blair's Education

Education Education Education

They then explore the key contemporary policies of recent times and offers a critique on how they have worked in practice before moving to look at the hysteria that often surrounds education policy with focus on media representation and the effects this has for the teaching profession

Commentaries and case studies are presented throughout providing an accessible link to what it was really like to learn teach and live at the time the policy was in place

This title is an essential reading for all undergraduate education studies students
