Computer-Assisted Research in the Humanities Joseph Raben, 2014-05-18 Computer Assisted Research in the Humanities describes various computer assisted research in the humanities and related social sciences It is a compendium of data collected between November 1966 and May 1972 and published in Computer and the Humanities The book begins with an analysis of language teaching texts including the DOVACK system a program used for remedial reading instruction It then discusses the objectives types of computer used and status of the Bibliographic On line Display BOLD semiotic systems augmented human intellect program automatic indexing and similar research The remaining chapters present computer assisted research on language and literature philosophy social sciences and visual arts Students who seek a single reference work for computer assisted research in the humanities will find this book useful The Roman Self in Late Antiquity Marc Mastrangelo, 2008-01-21 The Roman Self in Late Antiquity for the first time situates Prudentius within a broad intellectual political and literary context of fourth century Rome As Marc Mastrangelo convincingly demonstrates the late fourth century poet drew on both pagan and Christian intellectual traditions especially Platonism Vergilian epic poetics and biblical exegesis to define a new vision of the self for the newly Christian Roman Empire Mastrangelo proposes an original theory of Prudentius's allegorical poetry and establishes Prudentius as a successor to Vergil. Employing recent approaches to typology and biblical exegesis as well as the most current theories of allusion and intertextuality in Latin poetry, he interprets the meaning and influence of Prudentius's work and positions the poet as a vital author for the transmission of the classical tradition to the early modern period. This provocative study challenges the view that poetry in the fourth century played a subordinate role to patristic prose in forging Christian Roman identity. It seeks to restore poetry to its rightful place as a crucial source for interpreting the rich cultural and intellectual life of the era.

The French Genealogy of the Beat Generation Véronique Lane, 2017-10-19 The Francophilia of the Beat circle in the New York of the mid 1940s is well known as is the importance of the Beat Hotel in the Paris of the late 1950s and early 1960s but how exactly did French literature and culture participate in the emergence of the Beat Generation? French modernism did much more than inspire its first major writers; it materially shaped their works as this comparative study reveals through close textual analysis of William Burroughs, Allen Ginsberg, and Jack Kerouac's appropriations of French literature and culture. Sometimes acknowledged, sometimes not, their appropriations take multiple forms ranging from allusions, invocations, and citations to adaptations and translations, and they involve a vast array of works including the poetic realist films of Carné and Cocteau, the existentialist philosophy of Sartre, and the poems and novels of Baudelaire, Rimbaud, Proust, Gide, Apollinaire, St-John Perse, Artaud, Celine, Genet, and Michaux. While clarifying the extent of Burroughs, Ginsberg, and Kerouac's engagements with French literature and culture, in-depth analysis of their textual appropriations emphasises differences in their views of literature, philosophy, and politics which help us understand the early Beat circle was divided from the start. The book's close readings also transform our perception of Burroughs' cut-up practice, Kerouac's spontaneous prose, and Ginsberg's poetics of open secrecy.

Ecocritical Geopolitics Elena dell'Agnese, 2021-05-26 What is the role of popular culture in shaping our discourse about the multifaceted system of material things, subjects, and causal agents that we call environment? Ecocritical Geopolitics offers a new theoretical perspective and approach to the analysis of environmental discourse in popular culture. It combines ecocritical and critical geopolitical approaches to explore three main themes: dystopian visions, the relationship between the human, post-human, and nature, and speciesism and carnism. The importance of popular culture in the construction of geopolitical discourse is widely recognized. From ecocriticism, we also appreciate that literature, cinema, or theatre can offer a mirror of what the individual author wants to communicate about the relationship between the human being and what can be defined as non-human. This book provides an analysis of environmental discourses with the theoretical tools of critical geopolitics and the analytical methodology of ecocriticism. It develops and disseminates a new scientific approach defined as ecocritical geopolitics to offer an idea of the power of popular culture in the realization of environmental discourse. Referencing sources as diverse as The Road, The Shape of Water, Lady and the Tramp, and TV cooking shows, this book will be of great interest to students and scholars of geography, environmental studies, film studies, and environmental humanities.

This book analyzes gesture ritual and performance in flamenco and tauromaquia the extended definition of bullfighting within the visual arts and poetry in contemporary Spain Based on the author s extensive ethnographic field research it emerges from recent critical thinking on the body in dance and performance studies The main argument is that flamenco and la corrida are a type of choreographic writing as both corporeal inscription and a field of spacing and timing bordered by death Transgression is conceived as the breaching and blurring of limits between two seemingly opposed spaces the corporeal and incorporeal the animal and human the real and the imaginary life and death Flamenco and tauromaquia incorporate and reshape cultural and historical layers of memory and sense which are marked by multiple social and political intersections This book fills a gap in the knowledge of their interconnectedness It equally contributes to resolving an epistemological crisis in dance studies to the interplay between the visible and the invisible in choreographed movements This interdisciplinary text serves scholars across fields including Dance Cultural Studies Anthropology and Iberian and Latin American Studies particularly
