

The image shows the internal components of a Panasonic LED TV. A green LCD TV Controller Driver Board is visible, featuring various electronic components like capacitors, resistors, and integrated circuits. A large black chip with the 'aico' logo is prominent on the right side of the board. Several flat ribbon cables are connected to the board, including a white one and a blue-and-white striped one. To the left, a silver screwdriver is positioned near the board. In the bottom right corner, there are several coaxial cables with different colored outer jackets (gold, red, orange). The background is dark, likely the interior of the TV chassis.
