

The background of the entire cover is a photograph of a battlefield. Numerous spent bullet casings are scattered across a reddish-brown, rocky ground. In the center, a small, crumpled piece of paper, possibly a photograph or a note, lies on the ground. The scene is somber and evocative of war.

Phythian,2011-01-28 This edited volume addresses the key issues of ethics war and international relations in the post 9 11 world There is a lively debate in contemporary international relations concerning the relationship between statist obligations to one's own political community and cosmopolitan duties to distant others. This volume contributes to this debate by investigating aspects of the ethics of national military and security and intelligence policies in the post 9/11 environment. The discursive transformation of national militaries into forces for good became normalized as the Cold War subsided. While the number of humanitarian military interventions and operations rose considerably in the immediate post-Cold War period, the advent of the war on terror raised questions about exactly what we mean by ethical behaviour in terms of military and security policies. This volume interrogates this key question via a focus that is both distinctive and illuminating on national military ethics, femininities, masculinities and difference and intelligence ethics. The key objectives are to demonstrate the important linkages between areas of international relations that are all too often treated in isolation from one another and to investigate the growing tension between cosmopolitan and communitarian conceptions of intelligence and security and the use of armed force. This book will be of much interest to students of security studies, ethics, gender studies, intelligence studies and international relations in general. Mark Phythian is Professor of Politics in the Department of Politics and International Relations at the University of Leicester. He is the author or editor/co-editor of ten books. Annika Bergman Rosamond is Senior Researcher at the Danish Institute for International Studies in Copenhagen.

Wounded Rangers Dominic Hagans, 2013-06-25

On September 11, 2008, Warrant Officer Dominic Hagans of the 1st Battalion the Royal Irish Regiment became the latest casualty of the Afghan war when an improvised enemy bomb exploded under his vehicle, wrecking his legs and changing his life forever. As he embarked on the long road to rehabilitation and partial recovery, WO2 Hagans decided to record his experiences and those of some of his comrades in print. Wounded Rangers is a compilation of no punches pulled true stories from the front line, plus the heart-rending story of a mother whose son was critically injured on the battlefield. Harrowing and often shocking as these accounts are, the professional soldier's determination to do his duty and his indomitable sense of humour shine through. All the proceeds from this book will go to the welfare fund of the 1st Battalion the Royal Irish Regiment to help meet the cost of caring for their wounded and helping them to adapt and adjust to their injuries.

The Burning of Byron's Memoirs Peter Cochran, 2015-01-12

The Burning of Byron's Memoirs is a collection of new and uncollected essays and papers given at many conferences over a two-decade period. They cover many aspects of Byron's life and work, including his relationship with his parents, his library, his attitude to Shakespeare, his borrowings from other writers and his feelings about women and men. Two essays centre on his close friends, Hobhouse and Kinnaid. All are informed by first-hand acquaintance with primary texts. The title essay has been hailed as the best ever documentation of the disgraceful way in which Byron's Memoirs were destroyed within days of his death being announced. For anyone interested in Byron, either as a man, a poet or as a cultural phenomenon The Burning of Byron's Memoirs is essential reading
