

Let's All Go On A Picnic
(sing to "Take Me Out To The Ballgame")

Let's all go on a picnic,
Let's eat outside today.
I'll get a cooler and basket, too.
Fill it with goodies for me and for you!
Then we'll go outside for our picnic,
Eating outside in the sun.
Let's all go on our picnic now,
Let's go have some fun!

Picnic Themed Songs Or Poems:

Domestic and Heroic in Tennyson's Poetry Donald S. Hair, 1981-12-15 Tennyson shared the assumptions of his age concerning the value of family life and treated the domestic as the source of the heroic in both action and character This book provides a critical examination of these major Victorian themes as they appear in Tennyson's poetry and demonstrates how the poet's assumptions illuminate his use of elegy idyl and epyllion and his treatment of romance Professor Hair analyses In Memoriam the English Idylls The Princess and Idylls of the King he examines Tennyson's view of the family as the model of social order a civilizing influence on the nation and a place where the greater man or hero is nurtured and he reveals how much of Tennyson's poetry explores the link between domestic and heroic He also discusses the patterns into which these pervasive domestic concerns fall with emphasis on the most significant separation and reunions The myth of Demeter and Persephone the Biblical story of Ruth and the Sleeping Beauty fairy tale are all versions of Tennyson's treatment of this pattern The English Idylls and other idylls and epyllia are explored as varying combinations of romance satire tragedy comedy and irony with a detailed analysis of The Princess the most complex of these medleys Idylls of the King wherein the fate of Camelot rests on the marriage of Arthur and Guinevere is treated as the fullest exploration of the link between domestic and heroic
