

Sample Reflective Essay

Author: Nekisa Mahzad

I have been a student at California State University Channel Islands (CI) for 5 semesters, and over the course of my stay I have grown and learned more than I thought possible. I came to this school from Moorpark Community College already knowing that I wanted to be an English teacher; I had taken numerous English courses and though I knew exactly what I was headed for-was I ever wrong. Going through the English program has taught me so much more than stuff about literature and language, it has taught me how to be me. I have learned here how to write and express myself, how to think for myself, and how to find the answers to the things that I don't know. Most importantly I have learned how important literature and language are.

When I started at CI, I thought I was going to spend the next 3 years reading classics, discussing them and then writing about them. That was what I did in community college English courses, so I didn't think it would be much different here. On the surface, to an outsider, I am sure that this is what it appears that C.I. English majors do. In most all my classes I did read, discuss, and write papers; however, I quickly found out that that there was so much more to it. One specific experience I had while at C.I. really shows how integrated this learning is. Instead of writing a paper for my final project in Perspectives of Multicultural Literature (ENGL 449), I decided with a friend to venture to an Indian reservation and compare it to a book we read by Sherman Alexie. We had a great time and we learned so much more that we ever could have done from writing a paper. The opportunity to do that showed me that there are so many ways that one can learn that are both fun and educational.

The English courses also taught me how powerful the written word and language can be. Words tell so much more than a story. Stories tell about life and the human condition, they bring up the past and people and cultures that are long gone. Literature teaches about the self and the world surrounding the self. From these classes I learned about the world, its people and its history; through literature I learned how we as humans are all related. By writing about what we learn and/or what we believe, we are learning how to express ourselves.

I know that my ability to write and express my ideas, thoughts and knowledge has grown stronger each semester. I have always struggled to put my thoughts on paper in a manner that is coherent and correct according to assignments. I can remember being told numerous times in community college to "organize your

The Course Reflection Project Nicole Schonemann, Emily Metzgar, Andrew Libby, 2015-05-01 Service learning is entering a post initiatory phase At tertiary institutions of all types and sizes service learning programs are common and service learning requirements for graduation are growing in popularity Taken together alongside continued faculty interest in effective teaching these factors have raised the visibility and popularity of service learning Now the greater need in service learning is not to prove the need for or efficacy of service learning but to turn the focus squarely back on practice Following established best practice is not enough instructors also need to reflect on how this fits within the specific context and application of each unique course and service learning partnership While there are many excellent resources that detail best practice and showcase exemplary service learning courses faculty reflection and course revision often goes unmentioned In response to the lack of attention on the role of reflection and course revision we convened groups of faculty from a variety of disciplines to reflect deeply on their courses paying specific attention to obstacles and challenges These conversations were converted to articles for this edited collection each chapter representing the process of reflection and revision and serving as a guide to develop effective practice in varied curricular contexts This text contributes to the body of literature on service learning in a unique and practical manner Faculty teaching or interested in teaching service learning classes would benefit from this text as well as university administrators and community service directors involved in service learning at a programmatic and institutional level This book should be marketed to faculty teaching disciplinary service learning classes and service learning pedagogy classes and administrative offices involved in service learning This could be a supplementary text for graduate level pedagogy courses Higher education institutional libraries would benefit from this text as well as the national and state campus compact offices

Handbook of Reflection and Reflective Inquiry Nona Lyons, 2010-04-07 Philosophers have warned of the perils of a life spent without reflection but what constitutes reflective inquiry and why it is necessary in our lives can be an elusive concept Synthesizing ideas from minds as diverse as John Dewey and Paulo Freire the Handbook of Reflection and Reflective Inquiry presents reflective thought in its most vital aspects not as a fanciful or nostalgic exercise but as a powerful means of seeing familiar events anew encouraging critical thinking and crucial insight teaching and learning In its opening pages two seasoned educators Maxine Greene and Lee Shulman discuss reflective inquiry as a form of active attention Thoreau's wide awakeness an act of consciousness and a process by which people can understand themselves their work particularly in the form of life projects and others Building on this foundation the Handbook analyzes through the work of 40 internationally oriented authors Definitional issues concerning reflection what it is and is not Worldwide social and moral conditions contributing to the growing interest in reflective inquiry in professional education Reflection as promoted across professional educational domains including K 12 education teacher education occupational therapy and the law Methods of facilitating and scaffolding reflective engagement Current pedagogical and research practices in reflection Approaches to assessing reflective inquiry Educators across the professions as well as adult educators counselors and psychologists and curriculum developers concerned with adult learning will find the Handbook of Reflection and Reflective Inquiry an invaluable teaching tool for challenging times Developing Reflective TESOL Practitioners Through Teacher Education Andrzej Cirocki, Mark Wyatt, Xuesong (Andy) Gao, 2024-06-26 This textbook provides insights from Asian contexts into how reflective practice is nurtured on Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages TESOL and English Language Teaching ELT teacher education programmes There is increasing recognition worldwide that given the centrality of reflective practice to teachers ongoing professional development supporting teachers to become reflective practitioners should be integral to teacher education programmes Consequently tertiary level courses in areas such as TESOL and ELT tend to promote reflective practice supported by theoretical input from the burgeoning literature on reflection much of which is produced in the West Relatively under represented in the literature are global perspectives on reflective practice there are consequently relatively few accounts as to how reflective practice is embedded in teacher education programmes in different parts of the world including Asia Hence this book addresses a gap Contributing authors from fourteen countries provide insights into the ways in which teachers are helped to grow as reflective practitioners on their teacher education programmes in their unique contexts This textbook showcases how reflective teaching practices are developed supported by frameworks for critical reflection and in interaction with local educational policies These distinctive accounts aid readers in reflecting on the ways in which reflective practice is supported in their own teacher education contexts and in considering ways of enhancing the reflective dimension of their programmes This textbook showcases innovative reflective activities and can be used as a principal text or as supplemental reading on a range of TESOL and ELT teacher education courses Quick Hits for Service-Learning M. A. Cooksey, Kimberly T. Olivares, 2010-11-15 Service learning the integration of classroom instruction with community service projects is rapidly gaining momentum as a successful teaching and learning strategy that benefits both students and their communities Quick Hits for Service Learning presents more than 80 examples of innovative curricula developed by educators in a wide range of disciplines designed to combine community service with instruction and reflection Seven chapters offer tips for classroom activities that focus on the education of children and youth civic awareness engagement and activism language literature and communication global studies and local outreach to exceptional populations the study of history the social sciences and the arts business industry and the health sciences and the teaching of research and other tools of the trade Brimming with ideas that busy faculty members can easily adapt to their own classrooms this book is a valuable reference for faculty new to the field or seasoned practitioners looking for fresh ideas Critical Assessment and Strategies for Increased Student Retention Black, Ruth Claire, 2017-11-30 Student retention has become a difficult issue within higher education As such it is imperative to examine the causes as well as provide educators with strategies to implement to improve retention rates Critical Assessment

Community Engagement and the COVID-19 Pandemic Tawnya Azar,2025-06-24 Community engaged CE teaching is not a new concept However in the past several years it has gained increased emphasis as is evident by the changes to institution mission statements and the allocation of institution resources to support faculty development in CE teaching as well as to support CE coursework and research The arrival of the COVID 19 pandemic forced many faculty members to pivot to an all online instruction model impacting community engaged teaching and research in both predictable and unexpected ways Community partners facing similar struggles to serve their communities with restrictions on face to face interaction were often too overwhelmed to work with higher education volunteers Legally universities could not ask students to risk their health with face to face community engagement In fact the number of CE courses decreased dramatically in 2020 and 2021 due to the unique challenges posed by the pandemic At the same time the pandemic presented some CE faculty with new opportunities for community engagement Some responded swiftly to the immediate needs of the local regional or national community with which they worked taking advantage of the affordances of digital technology or capitalizing on the issues that the pandemic itself created or exacerbated This collection captures the incredible work of pivoting and innovating in community engaged teaching With a primary focus on community engaged teaching in higher education this collection explores how faculty students and community partners navigated their work during the COVID 19 pandemic Additionally it raises important questions about how we might stay engaged with community during a crisis

Preparing Mathematics and Science Teachers for Diverse Classrooms Alberto J. Rodriguez, Richard S. Kitchen, 2004-09-22 This book provides a theoretical basis and practical strategies to counter resistance to learning to teach for diversity in culturally and gender inclusive ways and resistance to teaching for understanding using student centered and inquiry based pedagogical approaches Teacher educators from across the United States present rich narratives of their experiences in helping prospective and practicing teachers learn to teach for diversity and for understanding in a variety of mathematics and science contexts Mathematics and science education has been slow to respond to issues of diversity and equity Preparing Mathematics and Science Teachers for Diverse Classrooms Promising Strategies for Transformative Pedagogy helps to begin a network for support and collaboration among teacher educators in science and mathematics who work for multicultural education and equity A unique and much needed contribution this book is an essential resource for teacher educators K 12 teachers who work as student teacher supervisors and cooperating teachers and graduate students in mathematics and science education and a compelling text for science and mathematics methods courses
