In the Shadow of the Chinatis David W. Keller, 2019-01-31 Winner 2020 Al Lowman Memorial Prize for Best Book on Texas County or Local History There is a deep and abiding connection between humans and the land in Pinto Canyon a remote and rugged place near the border with Mexico in the Texas Big Bend Here the land assumes a certain primacy defined not by the ephemera of plants and animals but by the very bedrock that rises far above the silvery flow of Pinto Creek looming masses that break the horizon into a hundred different vistas Yet over time people managed to survive and sometimes even thrive in this harsh environment In the Shadow of the Chinatis combines the rich narratives of history natural history and archeology to tell the story of the landscape as well as the people who once inhabited it Settling the land was difficult staying on it even more so but one family proved especially resilient Rising above their meager origins the Prietos eventually amassed a 12 000 acre ranch in the shadow of the Chinati Mountains to become the most successful of Pinto Canyon s early settlers But starting with the tense years of the Great Depression the family faced a series of tragedies one son was killed by a Texas Ranger and another by the deranged son of Chico Cano the Big Bend s most notorious bandit Ultimately growing rifts in the family forced the sale of the ranch marking the end of an era Bearing the hallmarks of an epic tragedy the departure of the Prieto family signaled a transition away from ranching towards a new style of landownership based on a completely different model Today Pinto Canyon s scenic and scientific value increasingly overshadows the marginal economics of its past In the Shadow of the Chinatis reveals a rich tapestry of interaction between humans and their environment providing a unique examination of the Big Bend region and the people who call it home Nuclear Engineering Handbook Kenneth D. Civil-Military Relations in Post-Deng China Nan Li, 2020-10-01 This book demonstrates that civil military relations have evolved beyond symbiosis to quasi institutionalization in post Deng Xiaoping China As the People's Liberation Army PLA is a Leninist party army it is commonly assumed that the relationship between the Chinese Communist Party CCP and the PLA is symbiotic and institutional boundaries based on a clear functional division of labor are absent between the two This symbiosis suggests that the primary role of the PLA is in China's domestic politics it is to participate in intra CCP leadership power struggle and in defending the CCP regime against popular rebellions from within Chinese society By analyzing major changes in the functions of the PLA political commissar system the extent of the PLA involvement in the power struggle of the CCP leadership and the circulation of elites across civil military institutional boundaries this book offers a new theoretical explanation of civil military relations in China It also discusses the implications of the findings for China's domestic politics and foreign policy

Inception Point: The Use Of Learning And Development To Reform The Singapore Public Service James Low, 2018-03-20 Inception Point The Use of Learning and Development to Reform the Singapore Public Service fills a gap in current literature on Singapore's modernisation While the political leadership of the late Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew and his People's Action Party PAP government were key to Singapore's modernisation the role of policy implementation was one shouldered by the Singapore Public Service a story thus far neglected in literature Inception Point argues that the Singapore Public Service used executive development and training to introduce reforms across the bureaucracy In so doing the bureaucracy constantly adjusted itself to help modernise Singapore In the 40 years between decolonisation in 1959 and 2001 when the training arm of the bureaucracy became a statutory board training had been used firstly to socialise the bureaucracy away from its colonial era organisational culture to prepare it for the tasks of nation building Subsequently civil servants were mobilised into an economic general staff through training and development to lead the Singapore developmental state in the 1970s and the 1980s The Public Service for the 21st Century PS21 reforms in the 1990s was the epitome in harnessing development and training for reforms across the bureaucracy

The Law-Making Process Michael Zander, 2015-03-26. As a critical analysis of the law making process, this book has no equal. For more than three decades it has filled a gap in the requirements of students in law or political science taking introductory courses on the legal system and is now in its 7th edition. It deals with every aspect of the law making process: the preparation of legislation, its passage through Parliament, statutory interpretation, binding precedent, how precedent works, law reporting, the nature of the judicial role, European Union law and the process of law reform. It presents a large number of original texts from a variety of sources: cases, official reports, articles, books, speeches and empirical research, studies laced with the author's informed commentary and reflections on the subject. This book is a mine of information dealing with both the broad sweep of the subject and with all its detailed ramifications. In a crowded marketplace, Zander's latest edition of The Law Making Process stands out like a beacon in the fog. Well chosen extracts from stimulating texts enable the neophyte student of the law making process in England and Wales to grapple with the issues of the hour with a forcefulness and insight we have long come to associate with the author Highly recommended Professor Alan Paterson Law making is important fascinating and fun This new edition of Michael Zander s stimulating book on law making brings that out It takes account of the many developments since the 6th edition in 2004 ranging across the work of the Law Commission parliamentary scrutiny of Bills the relationship between our courts and the European Court of Human Rights the EU and many other matters Well chosen extracts and thought provoking commentary help law and politics students at every level to understand the raw material with which they work and make more experienced practitioners and academics look afresh at topics we thought we understood I recommend it highly Professor David Feldman As counsel judge and now cross bencher in the House of Lords I have been taking part in the law making process for over fifty years In explaining to me what I have been up to Michael Zander both informed and amused Not only does he deal in detail with every aspect of the law making process but he has assembled a rich cornucopia of commentary from a wide variety of sources He has shown a degree of self restraint in expressing his own views though his use of an adverb made them pleasingly plain when he stated On 3 October 2014 the Conservative Party published an 8 page document brazenly called Protecting Human Rights in the UK I commend this book to anyone who wishes to understand the far from simple way that law is made in this country Lord Phillips
