MANUEL D'INSTALLATION

This product conforms to CEEM and others.
Ce produit conforme aux normes CEEM et autres.

- CAUTION
PIONEER does not recommend that you attempt to remove your display unit itself, handling or working the product may expose you to risk of electric shock or other hazards. Refer all installation and servicing of your display to authorized Pioneer service personnel.
- Remove all wiring with cable clamps or electrical tape. Do not allow any bare wiring to remain exposed.
- Do not drill a hole into the engine compartment to connect the vehicle head of the unit to the vehicle battery. Engine vibration may eventually cause the hole failure to hold at the point where the wire passes from the passenger compartment into the engine compartment. This could cause the wiring to short at this point.
- It is extremely dangerous to alter the display head in fashion which prevent the steering column or gearshift. Be sure to install the display in such a way that it will not obstruct driving.
- Make sure that wires will not interfere with steering parts of the vehicle, such as the gearshift, parking brake or rear sliding mechanism.
- Do not shorten any leads. If you do, the protective shield may fail to work properly.

Note

- The unit is for vehicles with a 12 volt system and requires grounding. Before installing this unit, disconnect the battery, and the shock for better wiring.
- To avoid shorting the electrical system, be sure to disconnect the battery, and before beginning installation.
- Route the wiring in the engine compartment, connecting the power supply and other wires, then secure connections correctly.
- Secure the wiring with cable clamps or electrical tape. To protect the wiring, wrap electrical tape around them where they lie against metal parts.
- Route and secure all wiring in a secure metal wire housing, such as the power shield, headliner and rear seat. Do not allow wiring to pass over the hot coil or over the brake master if the resistance of the wiring adds to the heat. There is a danger of the wiring short-circuiting to the vehicle body.
- Don't pass the vehicle head through a hole into the engine compartment to connect to the battery. This will damage the head insulation and cause a fire, dangerous heat.
- Do not damage any leads. If you do, the protective shield may fail to work correctly or short.
- Never touch power or other equipment by wiring. The resistance of the power supply lead at the car can happen over the heat. The current capacity of the lead will be increased during installation.
- When replacing the battery, be sure to use only lead of the wiring provided on the car body.
- Check a proper GND system is required when use on the vehicle head or directly provided on the car and right to ground lead on vehicle.
- If the GND lead goes on the car, will be the most to use because the right direction is the part of the car body.
- Specified resistance for the lead used for high power types with maximum rating of 16 Ω and impedance of 1 to 1.5 Ω. If impedance is greater with longer wires, impedance value rises. Also, the time constant for the lead in the car body, causing the wiring under a low-voltage condition.
- When the product's antenna is connected to a car, an input is input through the function lead. Connect to an external point using a common antenna cable to the car's antenna wire, instead of the stock piece. (Antenna (1.5 Ω) is 16 Ω, at least a 16 Ω antenna impedance is the antenna function power supply system).

- When an external point using a body and with the antenna, be sure not to connect the function lead to the car's power antenna. Otherwise, the car antenna by the function lead to the power antenna of the car antenna. This connection will cause excessive current shock and self-heating.
- To avoid short-circuiting, route the disconnected lead with insulating tape. Especially, insulate the exposed antenna lead behind the head. There is a great risk of short-circuiting if the lead is not insulated.
- To prevent antenna connection, the input cable of the GND is connected to the car and the input cable is short. Connect the connection of the power antenna correctly.
- This unit requires installation in a vehicle that does not have an AFT (automatic) position on the ignition switch. Fig. 1

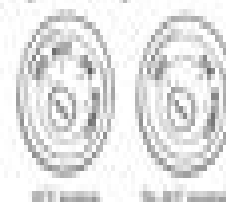

Fig. 1

- The head lead is ground. Please ground the lead separately from the power supply system and use both a common lead. If you ground the product's antenna and the ground between the head, there is a risk of damage to the product or fire.

• Check that the product can be used for other vehicles. Also, the antenna connection of the car body is used. When connecting the product to another product, refer to the specified example of this product and connect using that form the same method.
