SB3D is a three dimensional atmospheric and oceanic radiative transfer model for the Solar spectrum The microphysics employed in the model are the same as used in the model SBDART It is assumed that the user of SB3D is familiar with SBDART and IDL SB3D differs from SBDART in that computations are conducted on media in three dimensions rather than a single column i e plane parallel and a stochastic method Monte Carlo is employed instead of a numerical approach Discrete Ordinates for estimating a solution to the radiative transfer equation Because of these two differences between SB3D and SBDART the input and running of SB3D is more unwieldy and requires compromises between model performance and computational expense Hence there is no one correct method for running the model and the user must develop a sense to the proper input and configuration of the model
