Jones, 2010-12-28 In this completely revised and updated edition including eight new chapters Jeffrey Jones charts the evolution and maturation of political entertainment television by examining The Daily Show with Jon Stewart The Colbert Report Politically Incorrect Real Time with Bill Maher and Michael Moore's TV Nation and The Awful Truth This volume investigates how and why these shows have been central locations for the critique of political and economic power and an important resource for citizens during numerous political crises In an age of Truthiness fake news and humorous political talk have proven themselves viable forms of alternative reporting and critical means for ascertaining truth and in the process questioning the legitimacy of news media's role as the primary mediator of political life The book also addresses the persistent claims that these programs have cynical effects and create misinformed young citizens demonstrating instead how such programming provides for an informed active and meaningful citizenship The new edition takes account of the many changes that have occurred in television and political culture since Entertaining Politics initial release      Hearsay Handbook David F. Binder, 1983

Previous edition 2nd published in 1983      Fortitudine, 1996      NATO's Lessons in Crisis Heidi Hardt, 2018 In crisis management operations strategic errors can cost lives Some international organizations IOs learn from these failures whereas others tend to repeat them Given that they have high rates of turnover how is it possible that any IO retains knowledge about the past This book introduces an argument for how and why IOs develop institutional memory from their efforts to manage crises Findings indicate that the design of an IO's learning infrastructure e.g. lessons learned offices and databases can inadvertently disincentivize IO elites from using it to share knowledge about strategic errors Elites high level officials in IOs perceive reporting to be a risky endeavour In response they develop institutional memory by creating and using informal processes including transnational interpersonal networks private documentation and conversations during crisis management exercises The result is an institutional memory that is highly dependent on only a handful of individuals The book draws on the author's interviews and a survey experiment with 120 NATO elites across four countries Cases of NATO crisis management in Afghanistan Libya and Ukraine further illustrate the development of institutional memory Findings challenge existing research on organizational learning by suggesting that formal learning processes alone are insufficient for ensuring that learning happens The book also offers recommendations to policymakers for strengthening the learning capacity of IOs

Dear Palestine Shay Hazkani, 2021-04-13 In 1948 a war broke out that would result in Israeli independence and the erasure of Arab Palestine Over twenty months thousands of Jews and Arabs came from all over the world to join those already on the ground to fight in the ranks of the Israel Defense Forces and the Arab Liberation Army With this book the young men and women who made up these armies come to life through their letters home writing about everything from daily life to nationalism colonialism race and the character of their enemies Shay Hazkani offers a new history of the 1948 War through these letters focusing on the people caught up in the conflict and its transnational reverberations Dear Palestine also examines how the architects of the conflict worked to influence and indoctrinate key ideologies in these ordinary soldiers by examining battle orders pamphlets army magazines and radio broadcasts Through two narratives the official and unofficial the propaganda and the personal letters Dear Palestine reveals the fissures between sanctioned nationalism and individual identity This book reminds us that everyday people's fear bravery arrogance cruelty lies and exaggerations are as important in history as the preoccupations of the elites Police Chief Daniel S.

McDevitt, Mark W. Field, 2010 Based on over seventy years of extensive experience at the federal state county and municipal level the authors draw on current knowledge to provide a thorough overview of the realities of the position of chief of police The book provides practical common sense advice for preparing oneself for the position successfully negotiating the application and screening process and competing in various selection procedures including the assessment center The book then addresses negotiating an employee compensation and benefits agreement and once the position is offered how to prepare for your first days as a chief of police It also furnishes sound advice intended to help the chief retain his physical emotional and ethical health while leading a professional law enforcement agency Chapter topics include advice on taking control of the police department and setting the agenda in place emphasizing the extreme importance of role modeling the behavior that the chief expects of department personnel the requirements for a productive relationship with the command staff exploring the multifaceted relationship a chief has with his employees and guidelines for managing relations with collective bargaining units schools and businesses and the various elements of the community It also examines establishing and maintaining your relationship with your superior whether that is a city manager or elected official developing and managing a budget managing the disciplinary process how to respond when things go wrong to include officer involved shootings and other misconduct and building a good working relationship with the media Each chapter concludes with a Points to Remember section that will be beneficial to the new police chief in order to avoid mistakes and build on the body of knowledge that constitutes professional law enforcement leadership There are several sample policies procedures and forms included in the book that will prove very useful for the new or veteran chief This resource will be invaluable to all prospective and current chiefs of police law enforcement professionals policymakers and police academics
