

CHAPTER 15 REINFORCING SKILLS ACTIVITY

Analyzing Primary and Secondary Sources

A primary source is material about an event created by an eyewitness. It may be a book, letter, interview, article, or document. Primary sources provide an important understanding of how an event affected the people involved. Secondary sources contain information gathered from primary sources. For this reason, a secondary source gives a broader perspective on an event. Secondary sources include textbooks, encyclopedias, documentaries, and biographies.

To decide whether material is a primary or secondary source, ask:

- Did the source witness the event or gather information about it?
- Was the account written at the time of the event or afterward?
- What kind of information is given, and what questions remain?

Practicing the Skill

DIRECTIONS: Read the excerpt from each of the three sources below. Then label each of the sources as a primary or secondary source.

Source 1

Gorbachev was elected by the Congress of People's Deputies to the newly created office of president in February 1990. Many people worried that he had too much power and that he might become a dictator. During his last year in office, Gorbachev rejected reforms that he had previously supported. The President's popularity waned as Prime Minister Boris Yeltsin gained support. Yeltsin called for a rally of support. This was perceived by some to be a challenge to Gorbachev's authority. In August, 1991, Communist hardliners attempted a coup.

Word spread through the crowd like wildfire. Yeltsin was in the Parliament building, and he had not been arrested by the KGB. I was very worried when the tanks arrived. How many people in the crowd around me might be injured or arrested? My fears turned to elation when I saw Yeltsin climb on top of a tank. He called for mass resistance. The crowd swelled. Yeltsin denounced the coup as unconstitutional. He called for a general strike and declared himself the "guardian of democracy."
